McCloy Says Nazis Have Huge Forces

Germans Have About 300 Divisions in Service for Total of Nine to 10 Million Men

War Will Spread Mediterranean, Spain and Africa Next Will Feel War

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 19 (AP)—John J. McCloy, assistant secretary of war, declared here today that the Germans have 300 divisions totaling nine to 10 million men under arms and that perhaps 100 of these are yet to be thrown into the battle of Russia.

In a speech prepared for a meeting of the Michigan Bar Association, the war department official also said it was probable that hostilities would spread to the Mediterranean area, Spain and north and west Africa.

Today, he asserted, the war's "hottest flame is burning before Leningrad and the rich Donets Basin of Russia, but tomorrow you may almost be sure that it will be flaring up in the Mediterranean, in Spain and in North and West Africa."

McCloy's figures on German strength apparently represented the latest estimates made with full weight given to losses in the Russian campaign and compared with earlier estimates of 240 Nazi divisions and with Russian reports that Germans were being compelled to call in divisions from occupied countries all over Europe.

Air Force Is Tremendous
Germany, he said, "has 300 divisions under arms—nine to 10 million men; England has only a fraction of that number; we have 33 and a cavalry brigade. Its air force alone is as large as our entire army."

"It is estimated that perhaps 100 of its divisions have yet to be engaged in Russia," McCloy continued. "The tanks and airplanes which Germany can muster on any one day exceed all the tanks and planes which were engaged in all of the last war on all sides. With these weapons Germany wages war on the basis of a strategy that encompasses the globe."

As for America's part in the opposition to the German struggle for world mastery, McCloy said that "We already have within our means full command of the sea if we wish to express it, and we added that 'with England we will at not too far a time command the air, and next year our armies, if needed, will be prepared to respond to any task we now foresee.'"

Indicating that it might be planned to put "land planes" presumably army bombers—into the battle of the Atlantic which the navy entered on a shoot-on-sight basis last Tuesday, McCloy said that such planes can operate effectively from shore bases and "navy people tell me that they should be able to exert a decisive influence on the ship sinkings in the Atlantic immediately they set about the job on all-out basis."

He predicted the development of larger and larger bombing planes in this country, saying that "We have on the drawing board and in process of construction long-range bombers that will make present standard four-motored bombers 'look like little brothers.'"

Japanese Are Building Great Wall in China

Shanghai, Sept. 19 (AP)—Travelers reaching Shanghai from the Chinese interior said today a new "great wall" was being constructed by the Japanese army with forced Chinese labor in an effort to bar Chinese armies from eastern Hopei and Shantung provinces.

The wall, they said, runs south from Tientsin west of the Tientsin-Nanking railroad, and a section 100 miles long already has been completed by about 100,000 Chinese workers.

They described the wall as built of earth and stone about 18 feet high and 10 feet wide, with a dry ditch outside and passages only at long intervals.

Atop the wall, they said, Japanese soldiers and Chinese village lagers patrol, with each village held responsible for guarding the area bordering it.

Auburn Will Provide 35 Million Fish Hooks

Auburn, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—An Auburn plant began work today on an order for 35,000,000 fish hooks to be used by Icelanders to provide food for the embattled British.

Billy DeWitt, president of the Shoe Form Company, said the hooks would be turned out—5,000,000 before January 1 and the remainder next year—on a new machine he developed in his plant to make them from coiled wire in a single operation. He asserted this heretofore had not been possible.

DeWitt returned this week from New York where, he said, he obtained the big order for shipment to Iceland. He reported the British had contracted to take the entire catch, principally cod and haddock, from Iceland's fishermen to augment the nation's food supply.

U. S. Is Making Canvass on Crops

7,000,000 Farm Families Will Be Asked to Fill Out Questionnaire

Chicago, Sept. 19 (AP)—A door-to-door canvass of every farm in the United States, asking producers to gear their 1942 crops to the defense program, will be completed by December 1, a federal farm leader said today.

Wayne H. Darrow, information chief of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, told 400 midwest agricultural agents the campaign to increase the nation's food output would be carried into the farm home by a questionnaire, to be filled out by 7,000,000 farm families.

U.S.D.A. Defense Boards then will use persuasion to swing the farmer's production plans to meet defense needs.

Darrow outlined the program as follows: Food goals from each state were drawn up by federal authorities (Continued on Page Two)

Mrs. Pennock Heads State Women's Division of Defense; Unity Is Big Job

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—Mrs. Winthrop Pennock is a civic leader who wants women to stay in their homes and learn to be better mothers and housewives—and a government bureau head who doesn't want to "run" any thing.

Appointed director of the women's division of the state defense council by Governor Lehman, Mrs. Pennock is satisfied with her authority and the size of her staff and eager for the task of turning a lot of undirected defense enthusiasm into a unified program.

"We are trying to show the women of New York state that home defense really begins at home," she says. "We want women to be better mothers and more efficient managers—cannier buyers, for example."

"After all, the number of women who can do civilian defense work is very limited. Not many have the physical strength, and fewer

Stambaugh Pledges Faithful Support Of Legion Program

Defeat of Hitler, Neutrality Act Repeal, Use of A. E. F. Are Aims of Convention

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 19 (AP)—Lynn U. Stambaugh, of Fargo, N. D., new national commander of the American Legion, took charge of the organization's affairs today with the statement he would carry forward the decision of the national convention to promote "unswerving support" of the government's foreign policy.

He is a 51 year old attorney who entered the World War as a private in 1917 and was commissioned a second lieutenant overseas. He succeeded Milo J. Warner, of Toledo, O.

Stambaugh listed among the objectives of the Legion the defeat of Hitler, repeal of the United States' Neutrality Act and the use of American troops wherever the government needs them to keep war away from the United States.

He said that the legion's refusal to go on record against lend-lease aid to Russia did not change its views against Communism but resulted from a feeling that there should be no conflict with policy as determined by the President and Congress.

Stambaugh was elected on the first ballot as the legion's 23rd National Convention came to a close yesterday. Two other candidates, Edward N. Scheiberling, of Albany, N. Y., and Raymond Fields, of Guthrie, Okla., joined in making the choice unanimous.

Cooperation in the legion's defense program was pledged by Mrs. Mark W. Murrill, of Scituate, Mass., who was elected president of the National Auxiliary. Mrs. Murrill also is a legionnaire through her service as chief petty officer in the Naval Intelligence Bureau during the World War.

"We don't run anything in this office is never going to be any bigger than it is right now. And we don't want anybody to start any new organizations, because there are plenty now."

"The best we can hope for is to get all the existing agencies and activities blended into one program. We are trying to bring order out of chaos."

A handsome, efficient and friendly looking mother of three girls and wife of a Syracuse physician, Mrs. Pennock is 44 years old and a veteran of almost every committee and board in Syracuse.

Speaking with a comfortable drawl that betrays her Kentucky birth, Mrs. Pennock tells why she doesn't want the women of New York to get the idea they have to wear a uniform or learn to shoot a gun to defend their homes.

President Refuses Army Control Over U. S. Industry

Arnold Declares Basic Industries Impede Defense

Powerful Private Sources And Some Labor Unions Try to Avoid Excess Goods After War

Yosemite, Calif., Sept. 19 (AP)—Organized basic industries have been restricting defense production in order to avoid prospective overproduction after the war, Thurman Arnold, federal anti-trust enforcement officer, told the California Bar Association today.

For the past 10 months, Arnold asserted, defense work has been hampered by powerful private groups, including "a few strategically located labor unions," working for their own selfish motives.

The industrial groups fear the expansion of production, he said, "because it may destroy their domination of industry after the war. . . . They have concealed their shortages by over optimistic predictions of supplies."

"The labor union restrictions, which have nothing to do with wages, or hours or conditions of labor, are today costing the American consumer over one billion dollars a year," Arnold declared.

"The cost is increasing. 'I am not talking about wages. I am talking about holdups and bottlenecks in housing and in food, and in fuel and in transportation. They are created by powerful labor unions which claim the legal right to institute strikes and boycotts for the following illegitimate objectives: To enforce price fixing agreements and free channels of distribution; to eliminate small competitors and owner-operators; to restrict the use of labor saving devices; to keep more efficient materials off the market which might interfere with static jobs; to prevent self-employment; to make arbitrary classifications of jobs which retard the efficient use of labor; to tie up huge industries in the struggle to determine which of two unions will dominate the field.'"

Arnold said these corporations and organizations were not unpatriotic but had "trained themselves to resist the development of new enterprise."

"They are obsessed with the idea that overproduction will interfere with their future domination," he said. "While they are willing to expand their own war production, they do not want others to expand, and they reserve the right to dictate to civilian consumers what they can buy and the prices which they can pay."

He said the situation called for the full use of the government's anti-trust powers to protect the farmer, the small business man and the consumer.

'Have a Cigar'

New York, Sept. 19 (AP)—From Wall Street today came a report that better business had brought back the "have a cigar" greeting but there's a new angle to it. While some executives have returned the free-for-all humor of smokes to their desks, one has reduced it to an efficiency basis—a short cigar for visitors he wants to see only briefly; a long one for those with whom he wants to talk at length. The "efficiency expert" said his callers "get the idea."

Rev. Walsh Killed

The Rev. John A. Walsh, 50, pastor of the Sacred Heart Church of Barrytown, and of St. Christopher's Church, Red Hook, was instantly killed about 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon when he was thrown from his car on Route 9-G, about a half mile south of the Columbia county line. His car failed to negotiate a sharp turn, and left the road, cutting off a light pole and continuing for some distance before coming to a stop.

Three Ships Are Seized

New York, Sept. 19 (AP)—Three merchant ships of the great Alcoa fleet were under federal requisition today and the government was ready to seize others as a dispute between seamen and owners over war bonuses threatened to burgeon into a general strike. An estimated 14 ships of six companies were reported struck last night including the three vessels seized, the Alcoa Trader, Alcoa Banner, and Alcoa Scout, owned by a subsidiary of the Aluminum Co. of America.

Chief Executive Favors Civilian-Ruled Agencies

Decision Is Called Real Development in Struggle for Control of Defense Production and Export Trade

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—President Roosevelt, informed quarters reported today, has rejected proposals that would have placed a greater degree of control over defense industry in military, instead of civilian hands.

Refusing recommendations designed to extend the army's authority, Mr. Roosevelt took action to insure that the civilian-dominated governmental agencies administer measures affecting the supply of raw materials, priorities, production and export control.

The President's decision was the major development to date in what was described as a long and spirited behind-the-scenes battle for control of the defense production and regulation of export.

Disclosure of the conflict followed the President's executive order of September 15 which transferred the export control administration to the economic defense board headed by Vice President Wallace.

By that order the President not only transferred the hitherto separate, army-controlled export control administration to the vice president's board, but reduced it to a subordinate division which will be headed by a civilian, Milo Perkins, former head of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Ordered Back to Department
At the same time Brig. Gen. Russell L. Maxwell, who has acted as administrator of export control since the office was organized July 2, 1940, was relieved of that assignment and ordered back to the War Department.

In the behind-the-scenes conflict, informed sources said, members of one faction described the others as "New Dealers" and were, in turn, called "army bureaucrats."

The so-called "New Dealers" charged that the "army bureaucrats" had ambitious plans—even to the point of preparing proposed executive orders for the President's signature—which would expand and extend the export control administration's powers until it would be in control of the major part of defense industries.

This, the non-military faction argued, would be detrimental to the best interests of American industry.

The military faction denied any ambitions to control industry, assuring the export control administration's powers were clearly defined in various presidential orders and had not been overreached.

The "New Dealers," they charged, were chiefly interested in placing their proteges in the considerable number of positions in the organization and utilize the emergency opportunity to experiment with "reforms."

Dairymen had believed the increase would be effective tomorrow the government's proposed increases were ratified recently by the highest percentage of dairymen ever voting in favor of an amendment to the federal milk marketing order. The amendment was still to be signed by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, and before price changes could become effective notice must be published for three days in the National Official Registry.

Brilliant Aurora Blazes Over East In Fantastic Show

Science Goes Down Spout as Harried Folk Call Police; Others, Exalted See V for Victory

Millions of people throughout northeastern North America gazed heavenward last night at a rhythmic and kaleidoscopic display which swept across the entire sky.

It was the visible proof of an all-day wave series of magnetic and electric disturbances which interfered with various wire services, the effects of which were felt in Ulster county as well as in many other sections of the country.

By way of denial, the Associated Press reports today, the northeastern part of the continent was not bombarded last night. There was no rainbow at night. The Dodgers-Pirates baseball game was not shut off by a Dodge fan as the Pirates scored four runs. There were no kittens on the keys of teletype machines and there were no anti-aircraft maneuvers anywhere.

There was, however, a display of the Aurora Borealis, exceeding any remembered by veteran observers which, coinciding with some unexpected sun spots, gave rise to the reports herein denied.

Omen for Better Days

In Kingston and Ulster county many put special significance on the display, some seeing it as an omen of better days ahead and others seeing it as a forecast of further gloom in the world.

One woman telephoned The Freeman office this morning that she had seen a perfect "V" formed in the sky during the display and to her this seemed to indicate an early ending of the war in Europe in fulfillment of the "V" for victory. (Continued on Page Two)

Neutrality Repeal May Be Blocked

Senate Approval Conceded but House Outcome Is Held Dubious

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—A leading opposition strategist conceded today that the administration could win Senate approval by the margin of a dozen votes—if it sought outright repeal of the neutrality act in furtherance of its program of aiding Britain.

Pointing out that any such proposal was likely to provoke heated and lengthy debate in both houses, this legislator said an informal count of noses indicated senatorial opponents of repeal could muster no more than 37 votes, 12 short of majority.

He declined, however, to speculate on the outcome in the House. Some observers have said that the division of opinion there is sharp. (Continued on Page Two)

Third Army Circle Threatens Motor Units in Louisiana's War Games

(By The Associated Press)
The vaunted mechanized might of Lieut.-General Ben Lear's Second Army was held impotent today by two giant encircling claws of third army forces that threatened to rip through the invaders' wedge of steel and trap hundreds of tanks, guns and soldiers in the Louisiana war games.

General Lear's forces yesterday sprung a mighty armored offensive deep into the unprotected flank of the larger Third Army. The drive, supported by clouds of bombers and pursuit ships, carried 75 miles southward near Deridder, La., between main Third Army defense lines.

But before darkness descended over the battlefields of the nation's greatest war maneuvers, the tide had turned. Before dawn yesterday, seventy-five miles to the east of the still rolling Second Army, Lieut.-General Walter Krueger massed defending troops. His keen-eyed airmen spotted the long caravans of the invaders and dropped flares, heralding the Third Army's "big push."

New Threats Place Kiev In Danger

More Than 3,600,000 Red Troops Reported Slain or Captured in 3-Month Campaign

Fires Are Raging

Finns Say Leningrad's Fires Can Be Seen at Great Distance

(By The Associated Press)
Adolf Hitler's high command reported late today that German troops have entered Kiev, the Ukraine capital and Russia's third greatest city, while other Nazi forces have trapped four Russian armies and stormed within 80 miles of Kharkov.

German armies sweeping across the Dnieper river 200 miles east of Kiev have captured Poltava, only 80 miles from the big Ukraine industrial center of Kharkov, and other Nazi forces are engaged in annihilating four Russian armies trapped in the central Ukraine, Adolf Hitler's high command said today.

Kharkov is the chief industrial city of the Donets river basin.

The trapped Red armies, unofficially estimated at 500,000 troops, were reported caught in a steel ring 125 miles east of Kiev.

"Their annihilation is now in progress," the German high command said.

Simultaneously, grave new threats imperiled Kiev itself and the great northern metropolis of Leningrad.

Staggering Casualties

More than 3,600,000 Soviet troops were declared to have been slain or captured in the three-month-old campaign. Half were killed, the Nazi high command said.

On the historic ration of three wounded to every one killed in past wars, this would mean that Red army losses totalled the staggering figure of 9,000,000 men, including some 5,400,000 wounded.

German losses were put at only 402,865 killed, wounded and missing in the first two months of the war.

In a special bulletin, Hitler's field headquarters said German army groups under Field Marshal Gen. Gerd Von Rundstedt and Field Marshal Gen. Fedor Von Bock, slashing around Kiev in a fast flanking movement, had met heavy resistance from the Desna river to trap the Russians.

Finnish military dispatches said huge fires were raging in Leningrad, blazing so fiercely they could be seen with the naked eye in broad daylight from Finnish territory.

Other Nazi reports said Stuka dive bombers had silenced the guns of Kronstadt fortress, powerful island naval base 20 miles from Leningrad, thus paving the way for German warships to steam up the Gulf of Finland and shell the old czarist capital at close range.

A Red army bulletin acknowledged that the Germans had reached one of Kiev's gates, but indicated that the struggle had not yet reached a decisive phase. Bitter fighting raged around the city of 850,000 inhabitants throughout the night, a late Soviet communiqué said.

New pressure was reported, too, on the long-sieged Black Sea port of Odessa, where the Germans said they dropped more than 220,000 pounds of bombs in a single night attack.

Figures on Casualties

The German high command, releasing casualty figures on the first two months of the 90-day-old struggle, said German losses were 84,354 killed, 292,690 wounded and 18,921 missing. German air force losses for the two-month period were given as 1,542 dead, 3,980 wounded and 1,378 missing.

Russian prisoners were listed at more than 1,800,000 since the beginning of the conflict, with the number of Soviet killed rated considerably higher.

British estimates said the Russians had lost 3,000,000 men and the Germans 2,000,000. Authoritative London quarters, acknowledging that the loss of coal and oil fields, steel plants and other war industries in the Ukraine had dealt a sore blow to the Russians, declared nevertheless that the U. S. S. R. could maintain a large army in the field even if the Germans overran the Donets industrial basin and took Kharkov.

Eldred Oulton, 59, Accused of Murder

Bostonian Is Charged After Body of Woman Is Found in Trunk

Boston, Sept. 19 (AP)—The finding of a human skull and bones in an abandoned dust-covered trunk in a Boston rooming house led today to a charge of murder against Eldred Oulton, 59.

Hollow-cheeked and sunken-eyed, only partially recovered from automobile accident injuries that almost caused his death, Oulton hobbled before Chief Justice F. D. Putnam in municipal court today to hear himself charged with murdering Jennie (Nellie) Bell, about 40, who disappeared in 1939.

Police Lieutenant-Inspector Louis Disessa said that Oulton had made a statement acknowledging that he had bought poison after he had become jealous over attentions paid Mrs. Bell by another man. The police alleged that Mrs. Bell met death from an acid mixed with whiskey.

As the clerk read the charge of murder, Oulton cried out, "I didn't do it, I didn't do it!"

Upon the request of police, he was ordered held without bail for further hearing September 26.

The bones came to light when the owner of a lodging house in Boston's south end went to the cellar to open the trunk left two years ago by Oulton, whom he believed dead. Oulton, later found in a hospital on an island in Boston harbor, at first said that the woman had died in his arms of natural causes, and that, unable to part with her, he had preserved the bones.

Model Railroaders Drive Golden Spike At 4th Anniversary

With a program highlighted by motion pictures and a golden spike ceremony, the Kingston Model Railroad Club celebrated its fourth anniversary Thursday evening at the clubhouse, 541 Broadway.

The Rev. W. K. Haysom, president of the club, acted as master of ceremonies.

Guests of the model engineers included Mayor Conrad J. Heislman, Trainmaster S. J. Keating, Freight Agent J. A. Simpson and August Snell.

The evening's program opened with the driving of the golden spike by the first president of the club, John J. Schwenk.

Following this ceremony, President Haysom called upon several of the guests for a brief speech, and then two motion pictures, "The Model Railroad" and "Roundhouse to Roadhead," were shown.

Operation of the quarter-inch scale miniature railroad system of the club, the "Hudson Valley Lines," showed six different types of locomotives in service—hauling various trains around the 1,000 feet of trackage which is contained in the miniature empire.

Members of the club who were present at Thursday's celebration included: the Rev. W. K. Haysom, Henry C. Page, Henry P. Eighmey, John J. Schwenk, Walter Phillips, Arthur Evans, Charles Diehl, Burton C. Spray, Julius Lipton, Arnold F. Tierney, Ralston Munson, George Koerner, Edward E. Sanford, and W. H. Marnett.

President Gives No Indication of Signing Tax Bill

Hyde Park, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—President Roosevelt said at his press conference today that he did not know exactly when he would sign the nation's biggest tax bill, a $3,553,400,000 measure which he brought with him from Washington.

The President, who arrived this morning for a short stay at his ancestral home, said he thought 48 hours was not too long to study the bill and said that holding it up a day or so would not cost the government anything.

Mr. Roosevelt began the conference by asserting that he had no news today, and for the first time in months his press conference failed to produce a single important story.

Newsmen brought up a wide range of subjects, but Mr. Roosevelt was not inclined to talk about them. Among the things they mentioned were:

A story in the London Daily Express that an American naval ship had sunk an Axis war craft. Discounting it, the President said he did not care to comment one way or another.

Printed discussions whether there would be congressional elections in 1942.

Recent conversations between Japanese and American officials.

St. James Church Rededication Is Slated for Sunday

St. James Methodist Church will be rededicated on Sunday evening when the same ritual service used at the dedication 47 years ago will be used Sunday evening.

The rededication service on Sunday marks the completion of the work of redecorating the interior of the church, which has been carried on during the summer.

Sunday morning at 9:45 o'clock the Sunday School will resume its sessions after the summer vacation. Appropriate services are being arranged by Dr. Julius Gifford to celebrate the new beauty of the Sunday School rooms.

At the morning service in the church, the Rev. Dr. Harold Paul Sloan of New York will deliver the sermon, and in the evening at 7:30 o'clock the rededication of the church will take place, and among those who will participate in the service are the Rev. Dr. Frank B. Seeley, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church, who will bring words of remembrance of the days when the church was first dedicated; the Rev. Arthur C. Carroll, district superintendent, and a former pastor of the church, and the Rev. William R. Peckham, pastor of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church.

A feature of the evening will be a "hymn sing" of a few of the characteristic hymns of the early nineties. The general public is invited to attend this rededication service.

and much in doubt, although the action of the American Legion this week in urging outright repeal of the law was expected to have some effect.

This evident uncertainty, as well as the prospect of a long argument on all of the aspects of the act, has caused administration leaders to consider seeking only partial revision of the law to permit the arming of American merchant ships plying in the "defense waters" from which President Roosevelt has ordered the navy to clear Axis warcraft.

A proposal of that nature would leave temporarily undisturbed the law's other major prohibition against American vessels carrying war supplies directly to belligerent ports, but Senator LaFollette (Prog.-Wis.), one of the Senate's so-called non-intervention bloc, said the two issues ought to be joined if Congress was to pass on them.

Convention of Beacon Lights

Many residents of the West Chestnut street area of the city gathered at the top of the hill and from there the all-around show which was its best from 8 to 9 o'clock, gave the appearance of a convention of beacon lights focused on zenith.

During the more intense moments of this network of cosmic light many drivers of automobiles noticed a wavering effect in the light intensity of their headlights and others noticed the effect on radio reception.

In color the lights ranged from the well defined sharp shafts of beacon beams to ethereal hazes and then curtains of brilliance tinged by purplish and bluish hues. At times also there were great waves of penetrating greens and vague ambers and yellows.

Crazy, Wild Lights

During the earlier moments of the display the great long jetting arms which streamed up from every direction along the horizon faded into an almost imperceptible dimness as they converged at zenith. Then the pattern would break into a crazy pattern of wild light and color with interludes of brilliance in many directions.

Startled New Yorkers gazed at the blazing skies says the Associated Press and telephoned to ask if the city were under attack. Airplane passengers said they saw a rainbow on a scale unbelievable. The radio went dead right on those four crucial runs.

Telegraph editors of newspapers fretted as the high-speed news wires delivered only gibberish for minutes at a time.

The weather bureau said the display, ranging from red to purple to green and blue, was seen as far south as Georgia.

Synod Leader Dies at Hudson

The Rev. J. H. Murphy Was 10th President of General Synod

Hudson, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—The Rev. J. Harvey Murphy, 59, who in 1938 became the 10th president of the General Synod of the Reformed Church of America, died today.

Before becoming minister of the First Reformed Church in Hudson in 1921, he served pastorates at Philadelphia, Pa.; Amsterdam, N. Y., and Jersey City, N. J.

He was president of the New Brunswick, N. J., Theological Seminary in 1927-28, and president of the Western Theological Seminary, 1936-37. In the summer of 1931 he served as minister of the English Church at The Hague, Netherlands.

His widow, a son, John H. Murphy, Philadelphia, and a daughter, Frances, New York city, survive.

Lukens to Serve Life Sentence

Former Church Janitor, 58, Is Found Guilty of Killing Woman

Akron, O., Sept. 19 (AP)—Albert B. Lukens will be taken to Ohio Penitentiary next Monday to begin serving a life sentence for the slaying of 24-year-old Ruth Zwickler, the music teacher whose body was cremated last Easter morning in a furnace at the North Hill Methodist Church.

The former church janitor, 58, was convicted late yesterday by a jury of nine men and three women, who after nearly 29 hours of deliberation found him guilty of first degree murder, with a recommendation of mercy.

E. Guy Hammond, Lukens' counsel, said his client "does not feel justice has been done, but feels rather that he has been the victim of extraordinary circumstances." He signified his intention of appealing.

The dead woman's father, Arthur W. Zwickler, expressed disappointment at the verdict. "I think he should be sentenced to the chair," he said. "He killed our daughter and he should be made to pay with his life."

Wright Gives Formula For More Road Building

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—New York's town highway superintendents should lead a campaign to end automotive tax diversions, says the executive secretary of the state construction council.

Quoting estimates of $225,000,000 now needed to modernize state highways and asserting at least twice this amount would be required within 10 years, Thomas E. Wright told the superintendents yesterday roads have been neglected as a result of New York's highway policy the last 10 or 12 years.

"The trouble is the money is used for other purposes while highways go begging," Wright added, proposing a sales tax for general state expenses to insure use of automotive levies for highways.

Copyright Suit

New York, Sept. 18—(Special)—Harry and David Sapkovitz of Ellenville, owners of the Alpine Hotel in Ellenville, are named defendants in copyright suits filed in Federal District Court here today by the Broadway Music Corporation and Leo Feist, Inc., music publishers of this city. The defendants are charged with unauthorized playing of "In Apple Blossom Time" and "I Understand" without payment of royalties, on July 26, 1941. The complaints seek judgment for damages of not less than $250 each and an injunction forbidding further alleged infringement of the copyright.

State Service Filled 111 Jobs Here in August

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 19 — The New York State Employment Service filled a total of 49,938 jobs during August, it was announced today by Industrial Commissioner Frieda S. Miller. Of these 17,210 were in manufacturing, 9,709 were in household jobs, and 23,019 were in other employment.

Total placements in Kingston were 111. Of these 30 were in manufacturing plants, 26 in household service, and 55 in other jobs. Placements during the month were three per cent greater than in July and were the highest for any August on record, exceeding by 56 per cent the number made in August, 1940. In the city of Buffalo, placements by the Employment Service increased 168 per cent from the previous August, largely as a result of employment expansion due to the defense program.

Jobs filled in manufacturing industries numbered 11,123, in New York city, a rise of 16 per cent from July, with the Dress Industry Placement Unit displaying a gain of over 1,500 placements. This office reported a sharp decrease in the number of available workers. Placements in the metal trades continued at a high level, despite a small decline from the previous month. A drop of 21 per cent in nonmanufacturing placements, excluding household, was largely accounted for by decreases in jobs filled at summer resorts. A contrasasonal gain in the number of jobs filled in retail trade was attributed to a high volume of retail sales and preseasonal hiring in order to insure an adequate supply of help in the face of an expected labor shortage.

In the remainder of the state, placements in manufacturing employment declined in approximately 50 per cent of the offices, accounting for a net loss of four per cent for the entire area. Some of the localities that have been manufacturing defense materials—Buffalo, Schenectady, Utica and Rome, among others—are experiencing severe labor shortages. An increase of 12 per cent in non-manufacturing placements, excluding household, was largely counted for by defense construction activities—the Air Corps Depot at Rome, the Seneca Ordnance Depot at Kendaia, and housing units and highways near Pine Camp. A sharp increase was also noted in Buffalo where many agricultural workers were placed. While the number of persons registering at the Employment Service for work was substantially higher than in August 1940, the number of persons remaining in the file as active job seekers at the end of the month was 20 per cent less than last year.

Poles "Sold as Slaves"

Polish peasants are sold on the auction block to German landlords, it is charged by Slav representatives in Moscow. At a meeting they called on Slav peoples to "undermine by every means the fighting power of Hitler's army." "Sabotage all measures taken by the hateful Hitler regime," the meeting urged in a message which says the Nazis have exterminated 3,000,000 Poles. It adds: "In the Austrian towns of Graz and Wolfsberg, Hitler has set up 'slave markets' where Polish peasants and workers are sold at auction to Germans."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 19, 1941.

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations are in order for two Ulster county residents who have recently received signal honors bestowed upon them by the State of New York.

Nancy Boice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pratt Boice of Lake Katrine, has been proclaimed New York's "healthiest girl" of 1941. Miss Boice, who is a graduate of Kingston High School, is eighteen years old. She will travel to Chicago in December to seek the title of healthiest girl in the United States.

Young folks who would enjoy robust health might do well to follow the example set by Nancy—Get to bed early, rise early, drink plenty of milk and eat everything. Parents would cooperate to the fullest.

Nancy's oldest sister, Sarah, now Mrs. Madison Forde, was the state titleholder in 1936.

State Senator Arthur H. Wicks was the other local resident to receive high honor when he was appointed chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, which is regarded by lawmakers as one of the most powerful posts in the legislature.

The shipping of a truckload of apples to men from the Hudson Valley region who are in the service of our country at Fort Dix, N. J., is tangible expression that the sacrifices being made by these men are appreciated by the folks back home. Action speaks louder than words.

Constitutional Amendment Number One, authorizing diversion of $60,000,000 from the grade crossing elimination funds for highway purposes will come before the voters of the state on Election Day, November 4. Authorization of this diversion would certainly further dim the flicker of hope we have now of eliminating the Broadway crossing trap.

GIANT ORE TRAIN

A record ore train of 125 cars, carrying 13,568 tons of iron ore and moved by four engines—two in front pulling and two behind pushing — attracted considerable attention the other day. Its movement was a feat of the Cleveland division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the ore was being taken from lake front ore docks to steel mills at Youngstown, O., and Sharpsville, Pa.

Watching railroad trains is one childhood pleasure which usually carries over into adult life in America, and the reporter who rode the train and wrote the story about it seems to have been as thrilled as his readers. He thought the assembling and moving of the record train was "a masterpiece of co-ordination." And so it was.

The way the four locomotives "functioned as one," the way the conductor kept in telephonic communication with the four engineers, and the way the dispatcher controlled everything from the home station, were all a revelation to the reporter. This is just one of the many big jobs the railroads are handling today, reminding the public that they aren't exactly obsolete and proving their efficiency in meeting the tremendous demands put upon them by the biggest defense job the nation ever tackled.

MEDICAL REVOLUTION

New Zealand, noted for its socialism, seems now about to adopt a radical system of socialized medicine. The skilled professions are naturally "taken over" more slowly than ordinary occupations. The present plan, sponsored by the government and attended by a "doctors' strike," provides free medical care for all citizens. A patient may have his own physician by paying him a low official allowance, but the practice of medicine as known in the past seems virtually abolished.

Such a movement naturally arouses fears in our own medical profession. The New York Times, which will hardly be accused of socialistic leanings, suggests that the New Zealand threat should be taken to heart here. It says that if we are not to go to least part of the way down the New Zealand road, we must have some practical alternative. Its idea is that organized medicine in this country should recognize the need of changes in medical practice, make hospitals the centers of medical activity in every community, and insure medical care for all.

MRS. AND MISS AMERICA

So now there's a "Mrs. America of 1941." Crowned "Queen of Married Women" at an amusement park in New Jersey, the young woman—she is 19—is said to be ready to challenge Atlantic City's Miss America to a two-woman beauty contest.

This is all good fun, no doubt, for those who like beauty contests. Others have a lurking suspicion that the real Miss America and Mrs. America today are both actively engaged in quite different and more useful pursuits. The former is probably working in an office or a factory, or completing her education, and doing some kind of public service on the side. Mrs. America, in addition to knitting and sewing for relief, is making chili sauce, canning peaches and grapes, getting her winter club work in hand, and seeing to it that Johnny and Mary have clean clothes and wholesome food for these fall school days.

The latest developments of the "electric eye" is a beautiful thing, it serves as an automatic guide for blind men, as they move around in unfamiliar surroundings, telling them where to go and what to do.

The most effective help which a civilian can give to Uncle Sam is to buy Defense Savings Bonds and Stamps as often as possible.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act)

EMOTIONS DISTURB HEALTH

We are familiar with what occurs to many of us when we are suddenly alarmed — a knot in the stomach, a desire to urinate, a cold sweat, an attack of vomiting or other symptom. What we do not realize, however, is that any of the above symptoms of the body may occur without some "sudden" alarm; these symptoms may occur without our having any suspicion that they are due to alarm which is not of a sudden nature.

I have spoken before of the work of Professor Cannon, Harvard, who has shown that emotional states not only cause these temporary disturbances but, if they continue for some time, may cause real or organic disease of various organs. Worry, fear, anxiety (chronic fear), all cause tension of mind and body, and tension upsets the proper nervous action of the various organs of the body.

Recently, Dr. S. H. Kraus, Associate in Psychiatry, University of Illinois College of Medicine, stated in the Merck Report that these tensions may disturb the heart rate and its rhythm, resulting in very rapid heart beat, extra beats, and actual pain due to spasm of the blood vessels supplying the heart. A "heart" attack, thought to be due to a broken blood vessel (clot) closing the blood vessel, has been due to a spasm closing the blood vessel, this spasm being due to some emotional disturbance such as fear or anger.

There may be breathing or respiratory disturbances expressed by deep sighs. There may be disturbances of the stomach and intestine such as vomiting and diarrhoea and also of the bladder, eye, ear, nose and throat (stammering). Perspiring palms of the hands and soles of the feet are common signs of emotional disturbances.

How can we overcome or meet these emotional disturbances that so upset our body processes? A thorough examination by a physician and often our dentist also should be the first step. There is or is not some organic cause. If no organic cause is found, we should tell ourselves that as there is no real or organic cause for our symptoms we must, as normal men and women, face our problems and try our best to solve them.

Health Booklets

Twelve Barton booklets are available to readers who send ten cents for each one desired to The Bell Library, Post Office Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y., mentioning the Kingston Daily Freeman. They are: (No. 101) Eating Your Way to Health; (No. 102) Why Worry About Your Heart?; (No. 103) Neuritis; (No. 104) The Common Cold; (No. 105) Overweight and Underweight; (No. 106) Allergy; (No. 107) Scourge (gonorrhea and syphilis); (No. 108) How Is Your Blood Pressure?; (No. 109) Chronic Rheumatism and Arthritis; (No. 110) Cancer: Its Symptoms and Treatment; (No. 111) Acne—Pimples; (No. 112) Gout—Simple and Severe Types.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

Sept. 19, 1921.—Charles H. Davis, a well known local cartman, fell from the platform at the Central Hudson Steamboat Company warehouse on Ferry street, and was dead when picked up.

Jacob Goodell leased his meat market on Broadway to Andrew Reis and Michael Shank.

Harry Backoff took over the tailoring business of Peter Spankroy on Broadway. Mr. Spankroy was planning on a European trip.

Sept. 19, 1931.—Miss Ella Fischang of Summer street injured when struck by an auto.

Miss Nellie Van Steenberg of Lucas avenue and Eugene T. Snedcor of Belle Rose, L. I., married in Brooklyn.

Monsieur Daniel Burke died in the Good Samaritan Hospital in Suffern. He was a former pastor of the Church of the Holy Name in Wilbur, and St. Peter's Church in Rosendale.

The funeral of Louis H. Kolts was held from the late home on Ann street.

The Y's Men defeated the Kingston Cubs, winning the Monfr Baseball League championship.

DEFENSE BOND Quiz

Q. What is the Treasury's purpose in putting Defense Savings Stamps on sale in retail stores throughout the Nation?

A. To make it as easy as possible for Americans everywhere to buy these Stamps, which, as everyone knows, may be exchanged at many post offices and banks for Defense Savings Bonds.

Q. Who directs the National movement to sell Defense Savings Stamps in retail stores?

A. The Treasury's Retail Advisory Committee, of which Benjamin H. Namm, of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, is chairman. Officers of 13 other great national retail organizations comprise the committee.

Note.—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C. Also Stamps are now on sale at most retail stores.

"A BREATHER"?

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinnett

Washington — Answering the mail orders:

T. K. McAlester, Okla.—There is only one horse-drawn artillery regiment left in the army—the 112th at Fort Bragg, N. C., and that is to be motorized before the end of the year. There are, however, still six horse-drawn battalions—three at Fort Sill, in your state, and three at Camp Ord, in California. There also are certain "horse artillery" units attached to the cavalry, but these are not the same as "horse drawn artillery."

P. M. D., Portland, Ore.—The new age standards for commissioned officers (with limits ranging from 62 for majors-generals to 30 for second lieutenants) does mean a weeding out, but there are several things that must be borne in mind. First, this applies only to officers serving with troops in the field. Thus, many over-age officers who are vigorous in health and particularly competent will be transferred to desk jobs. It does not apply to air force officers, chaplains or officers in the medical corps.

S. R. Madison, Wis.—The latest reported strength of the United States Army in training and on duty was 1,580,775. Only 533,500 of these are in the regular army. The rest are national guard, reserves and trainees. The officers number close to 106,000 in all.

Mrs. H. F. Winchester, Tenn.—Men in training who were 28 years or older before July 1, 1941, do not have to complete a year of training to get out of the army if they request their release in writing from their commanding officers. This is a matter of law—not one of army policy.

Mrs. B. K. Trinidad, Colo.—I don't want to get into the thick of that argument about the right of argument about the youngest "sky pilot." According to the latest records available here (they are not absolutely up to the last minute), the youngest is the Mormon chaplain, Lt. M. G. Widdison, at Fort Francis E. Warren in Wyoming. While there are no ordained ministers in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, I am told that Lieutenant Widdison has been an elder for several years, which entitles him to his commission as chaplain. There are a generous number of army chaplains still in their twenties.

C. M. El Paso, Tex.—The Federal Bureau of Investigation says there is a nation-wide drive going on now against bicycle accidents. It suggests that the agency which probably has done the greatest research in this field is the National Safety Council, 20 North Wacker Drive, Chicago. It is true that the increase in bicycle accidents in the country is serious, but the figures cannot be obtained here.

K. V., Salt Lake City—All right, sir, here is the item of which you are proud: Desert-bound Salt Lake City has jumped this year to second city in the country in per capita enlistments in the United States Navy, with enlistments (for the first six months) of 122 men per 100,000 population; second only to Portland, Ore., which averaged 171 per 100,000. However, Mr. V., Salt Lake and Portland and all the rest of the country have their work cut out from now on. The navy soon will launch its recruiting campaign to get personnel for 400 ships that are taking shape on the ways. The quota is 13,000 men a month to January 1 and 15,000 a month next year.

For failing to stop his truck before driving across a railroad track, Jean Antie was fined in Wynberg, South Africa.

Mexico will supply a new anti-smallpox serum to patients.

BABSON ON BUSINESS

Babson Discusses Transportation Railroads, Busses and Shipping Considered

Concord, N. H., Sept. 19.—There will be no railroad strike! The railroad employees of the United States have asked for a 30 per cent increase with the hope of getting a 15 per cent increase. The general impression is that this increase will be 10 per cent. Employees are entitled to this increase for the duration of the war but, coupled with such an increase, arrangements should now be included for an automatic readjustment after the war is over.

Bearish On Railroads

Railroads earnings have always been a feast or a famine. Just now, they are a feast; but after World War II they will again suffer from a famine. Not only will they suffer from the general decline in business, but also from the fleets of airplanes and miles of pipe lines being constructed. Furthermore, railroads' rates are largely fixed and hard to get increased; while their expenses are constantly increasing.

When I was assistant to the Secretary of Labor, it was very evident that, however prosperous the railroads might become, organized labor would skim the cream. I still am of the same opinion because of the 1,000,000 railroad employees' complete organization and also because the annual income of most of these employees is rather low. This last is due to the fact that the railroad industry, fundamentally, is running astern. As wages are increased, freight rates must be raised and then business falls off. It's truly a vicious circle.

Freight vs. Passenger Traffic

The freight traffic of the country has been sacrificed to the passenger business which is unprofitable to nearly all the railroads. I think that ultimately we shall have to come to the Prince Plan, and perhaps go even a step further. Efficiency may demand having the trunk lines and terminals leased by the government and all railroads operate over the same on a train-mile basis. This saving would be so large that wages could be increased, the rates could be reduced, and, at the same time, railroad bonds would have greater value.

Diesel engines and streamlined trains will not solve the railroads' problem. If the railroads could lose all the passenger business it would be a great blessing. Unfortunately, they will lose only enough to make them operate at a loss. Commercial passenger airplanes will be so common after World War II that they will get the high-class passenger business while the buses will get the low bracket business. I had much rather today buy the securities of the re-organized traction companies of our larger cities than railroad securities. Certainly, airplanes cannot compete with city transportation systems!

What About Shipping Securities?

Admittedly, these are a gamble. I think the shipbuilding companies have a better future than the car-building and locomotive companies. Water transportation is the cheapest form of transportation. Shipping appears to be a long-pull industry, however successful ocean airplane "clippers" may be. When it comes to buying the stock of operating shipping lines, I'm not so bullish. They suffer greatly from labor and other troubles. Besides we do not know how much the government obligations, which the shipping companies are now receiving for their commandeered ships, will be worth after World War II.

There is a paradox in connection with this shipping situation. As good citizens, we are praying that the sinking of allied ships will be stopped, but if so, this may create a surplus of ships after the war. At the present time one new ship launched for each two old ones that are being sunk; but in 1942 about 100 new ships should be launched every quarter. At an average tonnage of 10,000 tons this would mean about 1,000,000 new tons per quarter. This is about the rate at which the allied sinkings are now taking place. These sinkings, however, should materially be cut down as airplane scouting is further developed. As to airplane securities as an investment, I will write next week.

Companies To Avoid

Transportation is a fundamental industry but its form is constantly changing—from oxcart to stagecoach, from stagecoach to railroad, from railroad to trucks and busses, and hence to airplanes. Later some entirely new form will develop. The tendency, however, has always been for the owners of each of these forms of transportation to stick their heads in the sand and refuse to acknowledge changing conditions. True security for management, stockholders, and employees comes, not through pig-headedness, but through the recognition that change and evolution that change and course of life. Any transportation company which is being run by a management or group of employees who are thinking mainly of themselves and ignoring fundamental changes is destined to be a poor investment.

The same principle applies to other industries including manufacturing and banking. Conservative interests are today applauding a certain New Jersey bank for liquidating because of government and other handicaps. I condemn such a liquidation as a cowardly policy. Banks which are willing to adapt themselves to new conditions have a good future. Certainly, our forefathers were not afraid of any handicaps. They did not need to face government restrictions, but they faced Indian tomahawks, severe starvation, and fatal epidemics. Security comes only through activity, cooperation, change, and courage. As Jesus— that great economist of 2,000 years ago—told the industrialists of Jerusalem, "we save our lives and property only by being willing to lose such and share such."

Final Test

The bus and truck companies are—as a rule—being operated by their owners. To a large extent this also applies to shipping. The railroads, however, are being run by lawyers, bankers, and others who have very little financial ownership in their companies. These managements may be as much of a self-perpetuating "closed shop" as the labor unions. I prefer to invest in companies in which the officers have a large stake.

Senate Group Indicates Desire to Intimidate Writers in Other

Fields Besides Movies
(By DAVID LAWRENCE)

Washington, Sept. 19.—Not content with coercive tactics towards the writers and producers of motion picture dramas, the Senate subcommittee in interstate commerce has by its tactics indicated that it wishes to intimidate writers in other mediums of expression.

First to resent such an implication by public protest to the Senate committee is Drew Pearson, co-author of a daily column which appears in several hundred newspapers. Mr. Pearson addressed his letter to Senator D. Worth Clark of Idaho, chairman of the subcommittee which as a part of its isolationist campaign, is challenging freedom of expression in America. Says Mr. Pearson under date of Sept. 16th:

"Dear Senator Clark: Thank you for sending me so promptly the transcript of your committee hearings which I have read with interest. In them you infer that I have some ulterior axe to grind in criticizing the methods and procedure of your committee; and I should like to repeat what I told you last night that I am at all times available to your committee should you care to cross-examine me.

"The only axe I have to grind is the very deep-rooted conviction that your committee is chiseling away at some of the great freedoms for 150 years have been granite pillars to this democracy. Few newspapers have been greater champions of Senate investigations or reported them more favorably than Bob Allen and I. But in all previous investigations which I recall, the Senate as a whole voted to hold or not to hold the investigation and the various committees abided by the decision of the majority.

"In this case, however, your subcommittee has proceeded, without any vote by the Senate as a whole, to subpoena witnesses in a way tending to censor if not terrorize one of the great literary and dramatic industries of America. Your tactics are comparable to subpoenaing Robert Sherwood and asking him why he wrote the Pulitzer prize winners 'Idiot's Delight' and 'Abe Lincoln in Illinois' or why Erskine Caldwell wrote 'Tobacco Road' or why Colonel Robert McCormick consistently writes editorials demanding that the United States remain aloof from Europe.

"And now, not content with this form of censorship, you also reach out to the columnists who are critical of your tactics.

"You were gracious enough to say over the telephone that you would not think of calling me be-

Kingston's Kiwanis Club was organized at a meeting held on Thursday evening, February 10, 1921, at the local Y. M. C. A., when Arthur J. Burns was elected president; Dr. Frank L. Eastman, vice president; A. A. Davis, treasurer, and William A. Van Valkenburgh, secretary.

The board of directors were the Rev. Dr. Bernard M. Kaplan, Dr. John R. Gillett, Robert J. Service, E. R. Alford, W. C. Ribenburg, Floyd W. Powell, and Jesse C. Klein, with Samuel Stern as district trustee.

The membership was composed of the men already mentioned and George E. Lowe, Samuel Saulpaugh, W. J. Miller, Chester A. Balz, W. Whiting Frederburgh, Leo F. Herbert, Judge Joseph M. Fowler, Roy M. Sutcliffe, Everett Fowler, W. Norman Conner, Sam Bernstein, Jr., A. H. Chambers, Frank L. Brown, E. G. Boessneck, Jr., C. V. A. Decker, Dr. H. R. Meinhardt, Dr. A. C. Gates, Dr. John P. Reading, Andrew J. Cook, R. L. Marchant, Dr. B. W. Gifford, W. S. Safford, G. W. Betz.

C. M. Doolittle, the Rev. John J. Hickey, Morris Samter, Joseph A. McNeil, Dr. A. A. Stern, Dr. W. J. Cranston, R. C. Dittus, Joseph E. Van Derveer, Eugene P. MacConnell, Sam N. Mann, Walter Seamon, Henry F. Dunbar and Louis N. Stock.

On February 1, 1921, Major George E. Chandler, of this city, resigned as head of the New York State Troopers, which he had organized and headed since 1917. Dr. Chandler was not only widely known as a surgeon, but was active in military affairs, and due to his knowledge and experience he had been called upon to organize the state troopers.

It was a Sunday School Superintendents' Union was organized in Kingston with the late William S. Eltinge, widely known John street druggist, as president.

Herbert Carl, the man who erected the Carl department store on North Front street, now housing Montgomery Ward was elected president of the Chamber of Commerce in January, 1911, and ten years later, in 1921, Judge Joseph M. Fowler was elected head of the organization.

I also recall that in January, 1921, William Ryan and Patrick J. White decided to retire from active service as members of the Kingston police department. In January, 1911, William F. Hoehn, who had been serving as secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was elected secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and George D. Beckwith was elected to serve as "Y" secretary in his place.

It was while Mr. Beckwith was secretary of the "Y" that the $75,000 campaign was held for the purpose of raising funds to erect the present building, facing on Broadway at Pine Grove avenue. This new building replaced the old hotel that stood on the property.

Literary Guide

By JOHN SELBY

"VICTORIA'S HEIR: THE EDUCATION OF A PRINCE," by George Dangerfield.

The custom which apparently makes it necessary for too many books to fall on the heads of the public early in the fall season has until today buried George Dangerfield's "Victoria's Heir." This is too bad, for it is not only a sound study of Edward VII. It is a diverting study, quite as readable as a good novel and often more so.

The wonder of Edward's education is not what it produced in the way of a high liver and a sincerely devoted King. The wonder is that Edward survived it. "Darling Albert" seems to have captivated only one person, his wife. If Edward had horsewhipped the Prince Consort after attaining sufficient size and strength, the old man would have had less than his due. Mr. Dangerfield's opinion, Albert believed that the way to make a boy bow was to kick him in the stomach, and the way to make him straighten up was to kick him in the rear. This principle ran all through Edward's education and had its effect. It is not possible to say that it produced the "looseness" which came later, but certainly it was no deterrent.

One gathers that Mr. Dangerfield considers the so-called "looseness" a not unmixing burden upon England. Edward may have gambled too much and visited too many attractive women, but he also let a lot of light and air into the immeasurably stuffy atmosphere of the wretched court, and his relations with his put-upon wife were remarkably good, considering their differences of temperament. The late Kaiser could remark with justice that Edward was "boating with his grocer" when he sailed with Sir Thomas Lipton. It was true, but it also may have been lucky for England that it was true.

And Mr. Dangerfield has also the advantage of a perfect foil for Edward in the young Kaiser and his asinine, though sometimes pathetic misbehavior. And another in Victoria herself, and still another in the entire set-up of British monarchy. These things plus such delightful incidents as Edward's smashing the bust of John Brown, Victoria's "gillie," who had been so rude to the Crown Prince when the latter was a boy.

Hoderath Asserts Training Program Is Biggest Step

Expansion of Vocational Program by Education Board Outlined to Kiwanians

Hubert Hoderath, director of industrial and vocational education in the Kingston schools, guest speaker at Kiwanis Thursday, told Kiwanians that he believed that the Board of Education had "taken the biggest step forward in years," when it expanded the vocational program. He said that since he spoke to Kiwanis before the change in the vocational program had been made. Referring to the fact that in 1925 manual training was given to about 120 boys, the plant consisting of an old shed and a machinery shop, today about 650 are utilizing the advantages of the manual training school built three years ago, the shops being installed in the Millard building and some additional accommodation at the high school. The present registration is a large increase over last year, when 394 boys took shop work.

There are two general shop set-ups. One includes sheet metal, foundry, electrical and mechanical work, with a little textile work; the other includes printing, woodworking, ceramics, and the like. Boys are given five months work in each shop, in order that they may decide just what kind of work they prefer, then they spend the next three years in the shop of their choice.

Mr. Hoderath said that the vocational work was designed to give students a definite training for industry, in this industrial age, introducing him to the types of material being used in industry. He added that, of course, the training given in school could not equal the practical training received years ago when a boy entered some branch of industry and worked from 6 o'clock in the morning to 6 o'clock at night, but it does give a boy as good a start as possible, while he is attending high school.

The class in garment work, using power sewing machines, for the girls also is showing good results, Mr. Hoderath said. When school closed, it was stated, out of 24 girls who had been taking this work 17 had secured jobs.

Mr. Hoderath also told of the work being done in the defense program. There are two types of classes—one for inexperienced people, a 40-hour night course, and one for men who work during the week, but who feel the need of further training in particular operations. There is one class that runs from 10 p. m. to 6 a. m.

Industry was said to be co-operating in this training for work essential in defense industry and assisting in furnishing experts for part time instruction.

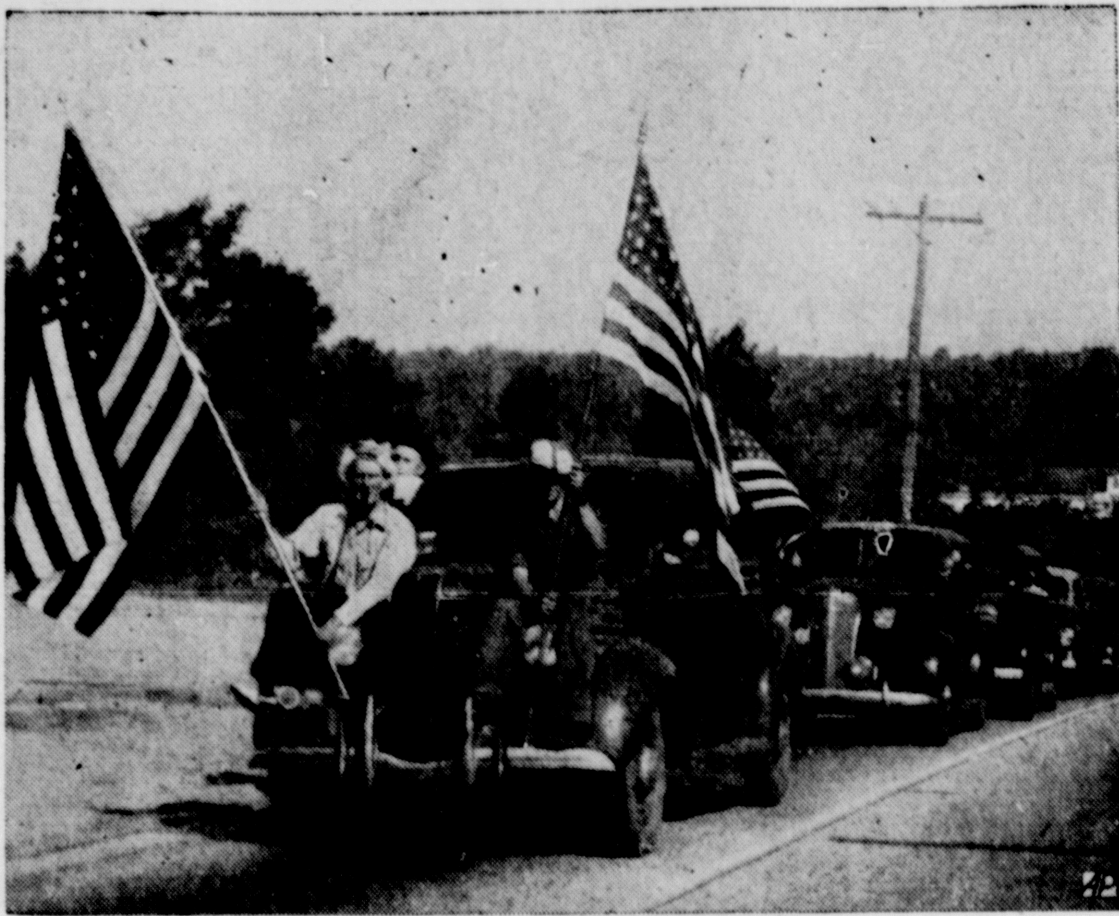

A new work which is being taken up, in cooperation with the N. Y. A., is the giving of girls in the rudiments of laboratory technique. Girls who have been assisting Dr. Taylor at the city laboratory will be given instruction at the chemistry laboratory in the high school building. They will be given a certain amount of training and instruction in physics, chemistry, measurements, etc. Kingston, probably is the first community to start this course, Mr. Hoderath said.

Guests, at Kiwanis Thursday included John A. Wallberg of Poughkeepsie, A. N. Cook and George Macholdt of Kingston.

Five Civilized Tribes

The five civilized tribes of Indians were the Cherokee, Chickasaw, Choctaw, Creek and Seminole tribes. They were given this collective name because of their advance toward civilized life and customs.

The name appears in the reports of the United States office of Indian affairs as early as 1876 when an agent reported that each tribe "had a constitutional government, with legislative, judicial and executive departments, conducted upon the same plan as our state governments, the entire expenses of which are paid out of their own funds."

These tribes differed from most others in that their lands were held not on the same basis as reservations, but by patents or deeds in fee simple, with certain restrictions as to alienation and reversion.

Four Are Hurt In Auto Crash

Two Cars Collide Thursday
Afternoon at Port
Ben Highway

Four persons were treated at the Veterans' Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, following a collision between two automobiles at Wawarsing about 1:30 Thursday afternoon.

Sergeant Hopkins and Trooper Crosswell found that the collision occurred when a car being driven out of the Port Ben road, near the bridge at Wawarsing by Felix Stolorowicz of Port Ben, and a car being driven north on Route 209 by Alice Sexton of Mt. Kisco came together.

Treated for injuries were Alice Sexton, contusion over left eye, lacerations right leg and cut lip; Nora O'Brien of Brooklyn, deep laceration on the forehead, which necessitated three stitches; Felix Stolorowicz, bruised right arm and shoulder; Rose Stolorowicz, lacerations and bruises about the forehead, neck and body.

Each driver arrested the other on a charge of reckless driving and the cases were set down for a hearing on October 2, before Justice M. D. Schoonmaker of the town of Wawarsing.

School 6 Pupils Visit Beatty Dairy

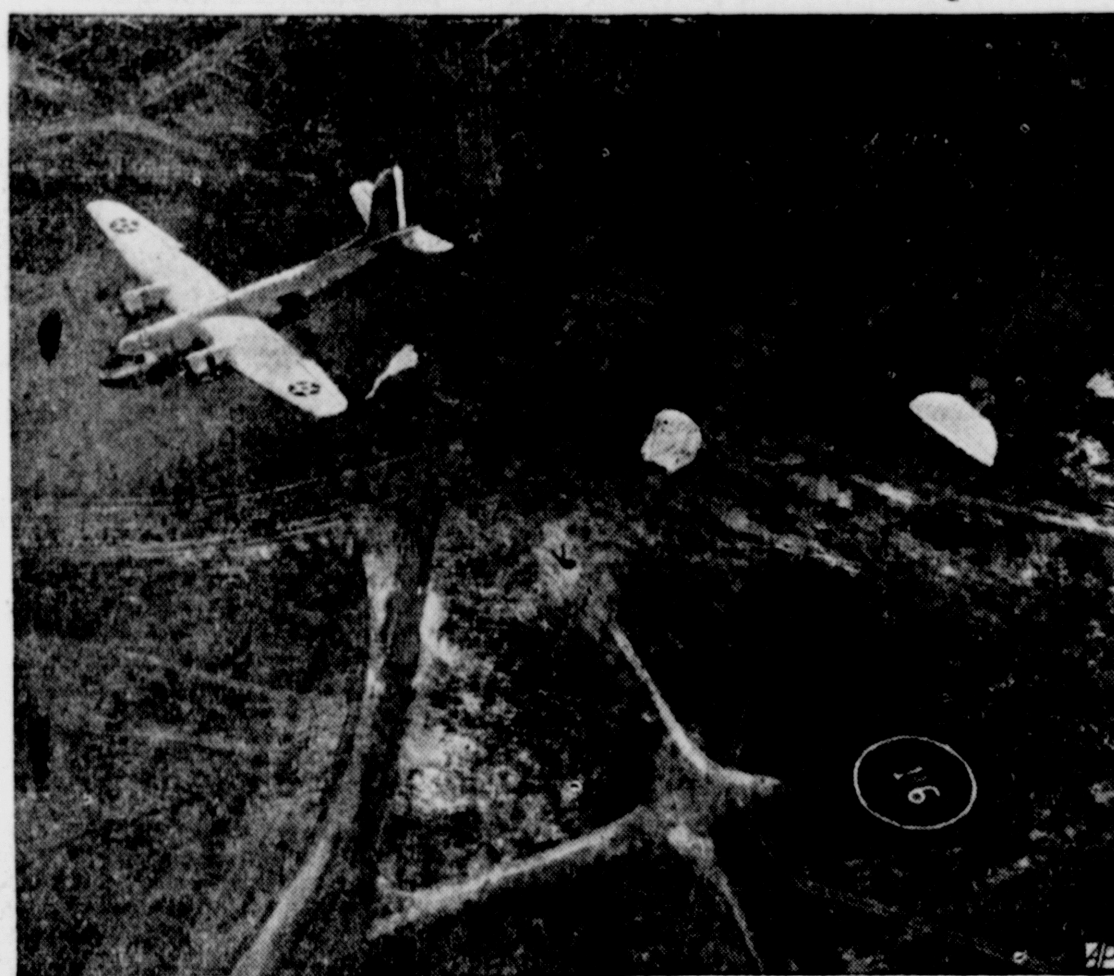

Thursday afternoon pupils from the classes of Miss Marion Feeney and Miss Gertrude K. Netter of School No. 6, made a trip to the Harry Beatty Dairy on Hurley avenue, where they observed the inner workings of a dairy farm. Study of the dairy was made in correlation with the Home Geography course. After the inspection tour the more than 60 children in attendance enjoyed chocolate milk and cookies, which were served by Mr. Beatty. Raymond Rignall, principal of the school, accompanied the classes together with the two teachers.

Youth Hostels Carry On

Youth hostels are still looking after "young people" of all ages in Britain. Of 300 peacetime hostels 200 are left. Some have been commandeered for war service; some are in defense areas and cannot be used; others house evacuees. Membership is 70,000 compared with a peak of 83,000. E. St. John Catchpole, association secretary in London, says accommodations are taxed to the utmost. Many members now in uniform, especially Dutch, Belgians, Norwegians and Poles, spend their leaves in hostels.

Baruch Calls Price-Ceiling Measure Biggest Necessity

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—Bernard M. Baruch, World War head of the War Industries Board, told Congress today legislation which would put a ceiling over the entire price structure was the "greatest single necessity of our present crisis" and would save "20 per cent or more of all appropriations."

Testifying before the House banking committee which is considering the administration's price control bill, Baruch said that while he was strongly in favor of that measure's objective, he regarded it as "piecemeal."

The white-haired financier took sharp issue with the members of the committee on several points, chiefly in that he favored a single administrator for any price control law enacted and in contending that the ceiling for farm prices should go to "the parity level and no higher."

Under the terms of the bill, no farm price could be fixed below 110 per cent of the parity price. Parity prices are on a level designed to give farmers the same purchasing power, in terms of non-farm products, they had in 1909-14.

Inflation Is Imminent

Early in his remarks, Baruch said solemnly that "with payrolls soaring and shortages developing, more money bidding for the goods, the danger of an inflationary price rise is imminent." He added: "If it is not taken firmly in hand in time, it may get beyond the possibility of control."

Noting that the new supply priorities and allocations board already had begun consideration of steps to take the "fat" of the economic body, Baruch said "the fat can be taken off all business but the skeleton and vital organs must remain."

"In taking the fat off industry," he said, "it is vital that the rationing principal be adhered to. If some industry must suffer temporary deprivation, all producers in that industry should bear the burden proportionately."

"I don't believe in piecemeal price fixing," Baruch said. "I think you have first to put a ceiling over the whole price structure involving wages, rent and farm prices up to the parity level—and no higher—and then to adjust separate price schedules upward separately, if necessary, where justice or governmental policy so require."

"I don't believe that you can treat price control as a separate effort. It must be intimately tied up and moved in step with all other war controls, wage and rent controls, priorities, conservation, commanding war trade, war finance and so forth."

In advocating a single administrator for the proposed law, Baruch differed with legislators who have been advocating a board of several members to do the job. Some of them privately had based their support of such a plan on their opposition to Leon Henderson, head of the Office of Price Control, who is regarded as the most likely choice of the President to be price administrator.

British Receive 800,000 Tons Per Week From U. S.

By EDDY GILMORE
A British port, Sept. 19 (AP)—The British are keeping at least 2,000 ships constantly at sea and "never less than 400 in the danger zones," a war transport ministry official said today as an all-American cargo was being cleared through this port.

The cargo—including airplanes, Idaho beans, California raisins and Florida citrus fruit—was part of a steady stream of lease-lend goods coming from the United States.

The British said the flow had averaged 850,000 tons weekly, for the past 10 weeks.

The war transport ministry official reported a big speed-up in the landing of lease-lend goods through a quicker turn-around of ships.

He said dock workers as well as officers of the royal navy and the mercantile marine "can pride that Britain maintains never less than 2,000 ships at sea and never less than 400 in the danger zones."

Here's a quick run through some of the goods brought over in the latest convoy reaching here.

A dozen or more attack bombers from Santa Monica, Calif.; big sacks of beans from Hansen, Idaho; tubs from Chicago stamped "Wisconsin brand" cheese; piles of brown cartons labeled "seedless raisins" from Fresno, Calif.; citrus fruit from Lake Wales, Fla.; and hams from Chicago.

There was an ambulance, "gift from the people of Milford, Conn." also machine tools from Michigan City, Ind.; aircraft parts from New Haven, Conn.; fire extinguishers from Brooklyn; dried apples from San Francisco; dried from St. Louis; canned pork from Chicago; boxes of fibre from Wilmington, Del.; insulating material from Trenton, N. J.; tank tracks from Chicago—and peanuts from Georgia.

In farms under 3 acres, California leads all the states in 1940 with 6,476 farmers on tracts of that size or less. This number is 2,051 less than shown by the 1930 Census.

Authority Condemns County Coroner Plan

Cooperstown, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—The county coroner system is outmoded, inefficient and expensive, and should be replaced by medical examiners trained to handle cases of sudden and violent death, a state medical authority contends. Lacking the knowledge and skill of a pathologist and a lawyer, the coroner has become "an anachronism," Dr. Gilbert Daildorf, laboratory division director of Grasslands Hospital, Valhalla, informed the Sixth District Branch of the State Medical Society yesterday. Surveys, he added, show the coroner system upstate costs $3,500 per 100,000 population, while New York city's medical examiner system costs $2,500 per 100,000.

When French Pieces Get Together

This chair and table go perfectly together, for both are of French design, of walnut in a light French finish, exquisitely carved. The tufted back and upholstered seat of the chair are covered in gold damask. The table has a genuine marquetry top.

Some People Still Travel in Europe

Nightmare of Bugs, Visas Sidetracks Inspections

One of the toughest problems of today's foreign correspondent is transportation—to get where the news is happening. Europe's railway systems are overloaded, undermanned and war-battered. Private travel is discouraged, and foreigners encounter numberless obstacles. An Associated Press correspondent, Preston Grover, tells about the difficulties in the following article.

By PRESTON GROVER
AP Feature Service Writer

Istanbul—Traveling in Europe these days has become a nightmare of bugs, baggage troubles, side tracks, visas and border inspections.

In six days of travel from Paris to Istanbul I spent one night in a sleeper, one night in a hotel at Vienna and four nights sitting bolt upright in a compartment shared with seven other men and women.

Of the seven, two were Rumanians, one a Frenchman, one a Hungarian and three Bulgarians. They were in a neighborly mood so we traded cigarettes and sandwiches. One of them donated a numerous crop of lice. They bit me from Budapest to the Black Sea.

Traveling eastward from Istanbul through Turkey is a continuation of the same experience except that the food is better, and it is unnecessary to give ration tickets for it.

Getting from Paris to Istanbul through German-dominated Europe was almost a miracle. So far as I know, no other American correspondent had such luck in three months or more. It took two weeks to get the permits to travel from Paris to Berlin through Brussels, and another three weeks to get out of Berlin. Then the train trip seemed almost that long in addition.

German troops were everywhere in an almost unbroken sketch of green across Europe. We were kept endlessly waiting on side tracks for special troop trains. Every train is first of all a troop transport, and only secondarily a passenger train. In our train soldiers hung their rifles here and there and prepared for one or two or three bedless nights riding to some new post.

During my one night in a sleeper I shared a compartment with a German dressed as a captain of aviation. He was one of those numberless German pop-talkers salted around among the troops to keep up morale. Before the journey was over he delivered his whole pep talk. Then came the inevitable question. "Do you think America is coming into the war?" They never seem to like the answer. If you say "no," they say you are concealing your own beliefs, and if you say "yes" they lamely ask "But why?"

At the German border the examination of my baggage was very easy. But until I reached Turkey, lousy, tired and grimy, was I given a thorough baggage inspection. The officer picked out a pair of rayon shorts.

"Why did you not declare these women's panties?" he demanded. I finally convinced him they were mine by showing him the laundry mark was the same on them as on my other shorts.

Iceland Patrol: 4

It's an All-America Team vs. the Ocean

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
AP Feature Service Writer

Aboard U. S. Navy Patrol Bomber over the Atlantic—Men live a stream-lined life in these big aluminum tunnels. Everything's planned just like it is in those folding stove and bed apartments in New York, only ten times more so.

The men around me in this tiny speck over the ocean are all plain, alert, healthy Americans. They hail from various parts of the United States, have all kinds of backgrounds.

Take our commanding officer. He's from Washington, D. C. A few short years ago he was romping up and down football fields, urged on by thousands of fans. All-America mention, too.

He's calling signals up front right now, but they're vastly more complicated—and important—out here in mid-Atlantic. A slip means precious lives—trained lives—and taxpayers' money. There are poise and authority in his mature face.

The navigator's from the Midwest. His is the same small town background I know so well. The radio operator's a New Englander, sharp featured. He's got nimble fingers, a quick mind. Crazy about radio since childhood. Now he's doing the ultra-ultra kind boys dream about, and he loves it. He works out our position on a direction finder, gets the same answer as the navigator. Quite a feat.

Accents are mixed. Piercing New England twang relays orders. A southern drawl shoots back "Aye, aye, sir." Nasal Midwesterner farmer voices tell us to come forward to balance ship for the take-off.

A gunner comes from the southwest. I talk to him in the center section, where bunk bedding muffles the noise.

"Good jobs were scarce in Little Rock," he says. "Dad works in the postoffice. I'd pick him up often. I got to talking to the Navy recruiting officers in the postoffice building a couple of years ago—and here I am with a steady job."

At this time of year the men wear summer weight coveralls that zip up all over the body. Watch them get in and out of this gear and you're reminded of an actor making a quick change. Some use flying helmets. Some don't. There are white caps cocked over eyes, just like you see them ashore; blue toboggan caps too.

The navigator sometimes wears the tradition aerial navigator's cap. Like a baseball or jockey cap. Each squadron has its special color or combination. The cap seems odd up here, but it protects the eyes from brilliant cloud glare, and you can wear the headphones over them.

The Navy has put itself out for the comfort of these crews within the limits of military efficiency. They have special flying rations, a large seabag full of vitamin-packed food. The bread isn't white like a bakery's but infinitely better than any of the advertised kinds. They bake it aboard the floating house.

And do these boys annihilate the rations!

"We seem to get hungrier on these long flights," says the navigator, chomping down on a fig newton. Many sweets for quick energy; they need them. They're constantly climbing through, up down and around.

The Navy wastes no weights or space in these patrol bombers on bathrooms and lavatories. Water comes in aluminum cylinders about the size of big fire extinguishers. There's little shaving or handwashing aboard. Some of the men, especially the meeks (mechanics) wear beards. They stay aboard more than other members of the crew. Hair is forever matted. Blame it on headsets.

Close quarters and common concern for safety develop a sense of toleration and comradeship aboard, but nobody wastes time on Alfonso and Gaston gestures.

Some conversation is pantomime, with smiles and frowns and eyebrow lifting. A slice with the hand across the neck means "Cut the engines," or "Bad weather ahead." Everybody seems to understand which. A frown means "I don't understand," a slap of the flat hand at the air means "Never mind."

The most frequent sign is the circle with the thumb and forefinger. It means, "OK."

The flight commander peers just now through the port, grins a huge grin and makes that sign. We've sighted home base through the haze. Our flight is almost over, and efficiency or no efficiency—I want a good hot shower like nobody's business. This is downright plain hard work.

Tomorrow: Our Floating Base, the Answer to an Airman's Prayer.

Religious School Sessions to Start

Weekday School Opening Slated for Wednesday

Sponsored by the Kingston Council for Christian Education and in co-operation with the city's Board of Education, the second year of the Week-day School of Christian Education for high school students will begin Wednesday from 2:30 to 3:10 p. m. in the rooms of the American Legion building, adjacent to the senior and junior high schools, and continue each Wednesday thereafter throughout the school year at the same time and place.

The week-day school is established under the state law which grants power to local boards of education to release students for one hour a week on school time, if they wish to take a course in religious education and have the written consent of their parents to do so. Furthermore, the state board of Regents allows certain credits toward graduation to all students who satisfactorily complete a duly accredited course taught by a teacher having the approval of the State Council of Christian Education.

Approximately 40 students were enrolled for the two courses offered by the council last year and it is the hope of the council that some of the students of last year's courses, with many more new students, will be enrolled for either of the two courses to be presented for this year's week-day school.

Differing in content and scope from those of last year the courses this year will be, "The Life and Times of Jesus," and "Builders of the Church." As principal teachers, the council has secured the services of the Rev. Wilhelm K. Haysom, pastor of the Bloomington Reformed Church and the Rev. H. Victor Kane, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Kingston.

The school is open to any student of either high school, whether a resident of the city or not. Registration blanks, which provide for the signature of parents, may be obtained from the principal's office of either school.

BINNEWATER

Binnewater, Sept. 19—Malcolm Lyons and J. Freer of Bridgeport, Conn., spent the week-end at their homes here.

George Nichols is attending the American Legion convention in Milwaukee, Wis.

Miss Hazel Petersen of Maspeth spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Freer. Mrs. R. Hendrickson and daughter motored to Kingston Wednesday.

Mrs. C. Davis of Stone Ridge visited Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Freer Wednesday.

Charles Jeney visited friends in New York recently.

Mrs. H. Paradise and family and Mrs. S. Muncy have returned to their home in Brooklyn.

A Laughing Matter Franchot Tone's Favorite Story

The tramp was wandering dazed and alone through the hot desert, tired, hungry and thirsty, when suddenly a cloud formed and a pixie leaped out.

"What would you like most in the world?" asked the pixie.

"A ham sandwich," the tramp groaned.

The pixie vanished, and nothing happened.

A year later the tramp, tired and hungry, was on the same desert. The cloud and pixie appeared again.

"Say," said the pixie, "did you want that on whole wheat or rye?"

Cool Under Fire
Fayetteville, N. C.—A big bus filled with soldiers caught fire en route from Fayetteville to Ft. Bragg.

The driver snatched an extinguisher and began playing a stream of chemicals on the fire and smoke.

Not a soldier stirred. Soon firemen arrived and implored the men to leave the bus.

"No," they protested, "we might lose our seats."

They sat until the blaze was put out and the bus continued on its trip.

Celebrates Birthday

MISS BELLE COSTELLO

Miss Belle F. Costello, the obliging and efficient transfer tax clerk at the County Treasurer's office, who is probably the dean of Ulster county's official family, was the recipient of many good wishes Thursday, the occasion being her birthday anniversary. There was a birthday cake and numerous floral offerings and numbers of her friends stopped in to extend felicitations.

It was 37 years ago, during the term of Albinah McLaughlin, that Miss Costello entered the county treasurer's office as a stenographer. Mr. Lyons is the 11th county treasurer with whom she has been associated and all of them have been appreciative of her faithful service and her familiarity with the work and routine of the office.

For many years Miss Costello has handled the work of appraising the assets of estates, filed with the county treasurer as transfer tax appraiser. She has been so proficient in this work that she has won the praise and commendation of the entire legal profession of Ulster county. Many of the most prominent lawyers willingly admit that they often have consulted with Miss Costello before preparing their schedules for filing with the Surrogate. Such well known men as Judge A. T. Clearwater and Virgil B. VanWagoner often expressed their high regard for Miss Costello's ability and help in making up schedules in transfer tax matters.

Among those cooperating as campaign workers are: Mrs. Harold Ackley, Mrs. Conrad Heiselman, Mrs. Edwin Angell, Miss Mary Ingalls, Mrs. Van Dyke Basten, Mrs. B. J. Johnston, Mrs. John Batten, Mrs. Irving Rathgeb, Mrs. Gerard Betz, Mrs. Louis Kogler, Mrs. Henry Bibby, Miss Mary Keresman, Mrs. Herbert Bloom, Mrs. Lloyd LeFevre, Miss Mary Brink, Mrs. Faye LeFevre.

Mrs. Gordon Burhans, Mrs. Eugene MacConnell, Mrs. Peter Carey, Mrs. John MacKinnon, Mrs. Sanger Carleton, Mrs. Chauncey Main, Mrs. Florence Cuddeley, Mrs. Sam Mann, Mrs. Hans John, Mrs. Stanley Matthews, Mrs. Lester Decker, Miss Jane Maisterstock, Mrs. Josephine Dedrick, Mrs. William McNamee, Mrs. Harry Dodge, Mrs. Henry Millonig, Jr.

Mrs. Charles Doty, Miss Jean Molyneux, Mrs. Mortimer Downer, Mrs. Richard Obenaus, Mrs. Henry Dunbar, Mrs. Frances Osterhoudt, Miss Margaret Dunham, Richard Overbaugh, Mrs. Arthur Ellison, Mrs. Harold Bakov, Mrs. William Eltinge, Clarence Rowland, Mrs. William Fahey, Mrs. Warren Russell, Mrs. Bernard Forst, Mrs. John Saxe, W. Whiting Fredenburgh, Mrs. William Schweigel.

Mrs. A. Noble Graham, Mrs. Schuyler Schonger, Miss Augusta Hare, Mrs. Ralph Harper, Everett Schutt, Mrs. LeVan Haver, Mrs. Harriet See, Miss Miriam Halloran, Mrs. Hubert Smith, Miss Lucy Healy, Ronald Heermans, Mrs. Floyd Spencer, Mrs. A. B. Shufeldt, Mrs. John Stokette, Mrs. Henry Terpening, Mrs. Charles Terwilliger, Mrs. Cornelius Treadwell, Mrs. Walter Tremper, Miss Helen Turner, Mrs. Harry Walker, Miss Lois Welker, Mrs. I. B. West, Miss Helen Westbrook, Mrs. Clarence Wolfersteig, Mrs. LeRoy Wood, Mrs. Henry Wood, Paul Zucca.

Club Group Entertained

The Maple Arch Homestead was the scene Wednesday evening, of a delightful gathering when 11 members of the Palsy-Walsy Club were graciously entertained by Mrs. C. Theodore Floyd and Miss Lulu S. Hudler at dinner and cards. Those attending were: Mrs. Arthur Floyd, Mrs. Robert Carter, Mrs. Harvey Burger, Mrs. William S. Wood, Mrs. Fran M. Elmendorf, Mrs. Charles O. Kelse, Mrs. Howard Allison, Mrs. Samuel Williams, Mrs. A. Vernon Kelley, Miss May F. Langham and Mrs. George D. B. Hudler.

A guest of the evening was Miss Mary K. Hudler. Honors were awarded to Mrs. Kelse, Mrs. Burger, and Mrs. Kelley. After a most enjoyable evening in the home-like atmosphere all departed voting Mrs. Floyd and Miss Hudler charming hostesses.

Coincidentally, eight husbands of these ladies were entertained at dinner and cards at the Homestead by Frank M. Elmendorf and Harvey Burger.

Mothers' Association Elects Officers

The Mothers' Association of the Academy of St. Ursula held their first meeting of the school year Tuesday, September 16.

Mrs. Raymond Craft, chairman of nominating committee presented the following slate of officers who were unanimously elected: President, Mrs. Howard A. Lewis; vice-president, Mrs. John N. Cordis; secretary, Mrs. Charles O'Reilly; treasurer, Mrs. Frederic W. Holcomb.

The program for the year was discussed and chairmen of committees appointed as follows: Library, Miss Florence Cordis; membership, Mrs. Thomas Crowley; health, Mrs. Hubert Brink; speakers, Mrs. Frederic Holcomb; publicity, Mrs. Peter Camp; chapel, Mrs. Frederick S. Carr.

The first event on the calendar will be the annual tea to welcome mothers of new pupils which will be held on Tuesday, October 14, under chairmanship of Mrs. John Van Gonsic and Mrs. John Krom assisted by a large committee.

Tea was served following the meeting and then inspection of the building improvements was made by all the ladies present. The high school building has been redecorated, a new locker room added, laboratory moved and enlarged. The new lunch room in the former Staples homestead was particularly pleasing as well as the new classrooms in that building for the kindergarten, first and second grades.

Identical Name Complications

The questions which are asked me more often than any others, except those about weddings, are those about names. To get the following suffix questions straight, I had to scribble a diagram. So to any reader who may be struggling with this always confusing name problem, I suggest that you make a diagram, too, in order to "see" this family tree: Beginning at the top with James Robert Blank, and his first wife, who had a son, James Robert Blank, Jr., in turn had a son, James Robert Blank the 3rd. The wife of J. R. B. the 3rd is an invalid who can never have children. Meanwhile, the original J. R. B. at the top (the grandfather) had a son Henry by his second wife. Now this son has a new-born son whose parents intend to name him James Robert Blank the 4th if this can be done.

The answer is: Henry's son is not fourth, but second. He is at the top of the collateral line, and not 4th of the direct line. If he were the son of J. R. B. the 3rd, he would be 4th. Or if he should have a son and grandson of the same name, they will be 3rd and 4th. If an inheritance of property is involved, this order may be important and a lawyer should be consulted. Otherwise, perhaps it would be all right to call him fourth if that is preferred.

Viola Jansen Is Given Decree of Divorce

Viola Jansen of Wallkill has been granted a decree of divorce from her husband, Edwin M. Jansen by Justice Francis Bergan following trial of the action at Monticello on September 6. Daniel Hoffman appeared for the plaintiff.

Mrs. Jansen is awarded $10 weekly alimony and may resume her maiden name, Viola Crookston. Married at Port Jervis on March 25, 1927, the plaintiff alleged acts at Ireland Corners in July of this year upon which to bring her complaint. The plaintiff may remarry but the defendant may not without express order of the court.

Glass Garden Is Lovely
And Thrives by Itself

Requires Little Watering

What if cool days have driven us indoors? We can capture the departing summer in charming glass gardens, easily made!

Cacti terrariums are especially fascinating. With the prickly, quaintly-shaped plants you can combine yellow-flowered saxifraga and the sempervivum "hen and chickens," whose leaves grow in such fat little rosettes.

Best of all your glass garden thrives practically uncared for. All you do is start it—using, for cacti, first a layer of cinders and then sharp sand mixed with some garden loam. Seeds or cuttings will grow or you may put in the tiny plants you can buy cheaply at stores.

Covered, the terrarium provides its own moisture, so that a weekly spoonful of water is more than enough.

The container? You can make a large one with panes of glass and electrician's tape. Or you can use any clear glass container. In a candy jar African violet and fern are lovely; in a fish bowl, jolly red-berries evergreens.

Our 32-page booklet shows in detail how to make glass gardens for woodland and cultivated plants, orchids, gardenias. Also tells how to make bottle and landscaped terrariums, clever dish gardens. Has directions for kitchen-window herb garden.

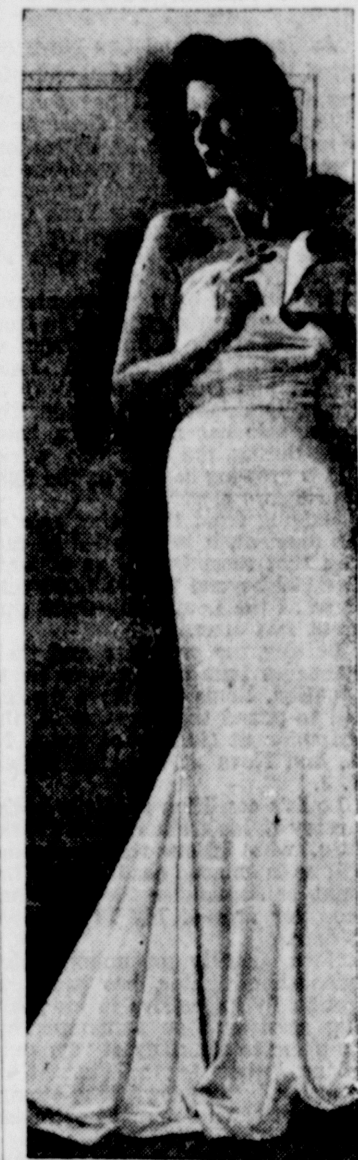

Send 10c in coin for your copy of "Glass Gardens and Novelty Indoor Gardens" to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

How I Learned to Sew In Half An Hour—Really!

By MARGARET
KERNODLE

AP Feature Service

Anybody can learn to sew in half an hour if I did.

And I did.

My lesson was free. Yours can be, too.

I went to a free sewing center on New York's Fifth avenue. You can find a similar sewing center in almost any community.

I wound a bobbin evenly. And threaded a machine correctly several times to be sure I had the hang of it. I zigzagged with a zig-zagger of which I had never heard before. I gathered with a gatherer without breaking the thread at the wrong place. I finished a sample coring for a couch cover, pinked with a machine pinker and zoomed along with a zipper foot with actual stitches on several fabrics.

At the end of the 30-minute race I had a jabot for my jacket.

I'm not ashamed to wear that jabot either. I'm proud of it.

My last sewing lesson took place in the sixth grade. Then my teacher shooed me from a sewing machine to hand work, saying that all I could make at a machine was a mess.

Since then I had been convinced it took a master mechanical mind to run a sewing machine. That was before I tried modern methods and gadgets. Nor had I reckoned with a sewing center.

I was flabbergasted to find I had a straight seam after only three tries. Mary Brooks Picken, who not only sews but writes books like "Sewing for the Home," says straight sewing is as important as sewing a fine seam.

The hardest thing was to sew slowly enough. Patience proved as important as practice. The cloth guide and a doubled piece of cloth helped to speed up the practicing.

Margaret as a sewing center student

Here are some of the things I learned about machine sewing: Winding the bobbin evenly prevents uneven stitches. This is easy enough to do after you release the stop motion—if you take it easy.

It is important to have two inches of thread through the eye of the needle to start sewing with.

The edge of the material should be just under the pressure foot so the first stitch can be made in the material.

To finish a seam on (not beyond) the material, you stop the machine by putting your hand on the balance wheel just before the end of the seam is reached.

Material should be released from the machine only after the take-up lever is at its highest point.

Divorce Is Granted

Marion Apuzzo Volino of Ardenia has been granted a divorce from her husband Edwin Volino. The action was heard at Albany on July 25 before Justice Russell. Cashin & Ewig appeared for the plaintiff. Married at Chester on March 7, 1937, the plaintiff alleged acts upon which to seek a decree as having happened at Chester on July 6, 1938.

Dinner On Sunday

(Planned for 4 or 5)

Chilled Fruit Salad Appetizer
Leg of Lamb Browned Potatoes
Buttered Cauliflower
Hot Rolls Currant Jam
Green Salad
Relish Cheese Dressing
Hawaiian Coconut Pie Coffee

Leg of Lamb

(Roasted Uncovered)

1 leg of lamb (about 7 lbs.)
1 teaspoon salt
3/4 teaspoon paprika
1/2 cup mint jelly
Place lamb fat side up on rack in open roaster. Roast in moderate oven (350) for 3 1/2 hours. If lamb gets a little brown the last hour, reduce heat to 300. Spread with ingredients and serve immediately.

Relish Cheese Dressing

2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickles
3 tablespoons white cream

cheese.
1 tablespoon minced green peppers
1-3 cup French dressing
Beat ingredients with fork.

Hawaiian Coconut Pie

1 unbaked pie crust
1 egg white, slightly beaten
4 beaten eggs (or 8 yolks)
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup drained crushed pineapple
1/4 teaspoon mace
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
1/2 cup coconut
2 tablespoons butter, melted

Beat egg white lightly with fork and spread over bottom of crust. This helps keep filling from soaking in. Add rest of ingredients and pour into crust. Bake 10 minutes in moderately hot oven (400). Lower heat to about 325 and bake 40 minutes. Cool and serve.

May Enlist Bees as Message Carriers

Army Officers Impressed by Plan of Hawaiian.

HONOLULU. — Richard Nieman hopes to make as his contribution to the national defense program the possibility of using message-carrying bees in much the same manner as carrier pigeons are used now.

Nieman, an engineer, for the last 15 years has carried on the study of bees as an avocation.

His latest development has been a technique for using bees as message carriers, and it has now been perfected, he says.

The bees are taken to a distance of about a mile, their usual honey-gathering radius, and are anesthetized with ether.

Tiny capsules are then attached underneath their bodies containing messages written on onion-skin paper about the size of a postage stamp.

As soon as the bee emerges from the influence of the ether its homing instinct reasserts itself and the bee heads at once for its hive and swarm.

Army officers who have followed the experiments believe a definite role for such message carriers will be worked out for the army.

They envisage the use of them in front-line warfare, where the size of carrier pigeons makes them too conspicuous for use and open to destruction by the enemy.

The bee, it is pointed out, is too small to be seen and it is believed where troops are holding down positions in close contact with the enemy they could be utilized for communications with command posts in the rear.

Nieman also is working with local hospitals and physicians in the preparation of a bee "venom" serum for the treatment of rheumatism.

50 Technicians at Work

To Widen Plastics Field

ALBANY, CALIF.—In the new $2,000,000 Western Regional Research laboratory approximately 50 technicians are conducting experiments from which it is hoped a new method for producing plastics and artificial fiber from agricultural surplus products will be developed.

The scientists even expect to produce waterproof glue and concentrated food from such products as chicken feathers, alfalfa, wheat and potatoes.

R. H. Nagel, technical assistant, said medicine will come in for its share of attention with anticipated experiments on chicken heads for glandular extracts.

The experiments are being conducted in 30 newly equipped rooms. Eventually, when all the 96 rooms are prepared, it is expected several hundred civil service workers will be stationed at the laboratory.

Surplus products have been gathered in several states and are being held in cold storage, awaiting shipment to the plant as they are needed.

Father's Day

Father's day origin is a subject of dispute. According to one statement it was first celebrated in the United States in June, 1910. Mrs. John Bruce Dodd, Spokane, Wash., began a movement in 1909 to honor fathers; Mrs. Walter Hamlet Burgess of Virginia, now Cheltenham, had a National Father's Day, Inc., registered in the U. S. Patent Office in 1921. Other claimants to honor of founding day include Mrs. Charlotte L. Kirkbride and Mrs. Carrie Sternberg, of Philadelphia, and Harry C. Meek, of Chicago. Father's day is now celebrated the third Sunday in June. Another authority says Father's day was first celebrated in Philadelphia on June 18, 1911, "and had its origin from the celebration of Mother's day, inaugurated by Miss Anna Jarvis of that city." Badge of Father's day is the rose.

Republic of Uruguay

Uruguay is the smallest of the South American republics. Its inhabitants joined Argentina in the revolt against Spain in 1810. However, weakened by their efforts to drive out the Spaniards, the Uruguayans were easily conquered by the Portuguese of Brazil in 1817. In 1828, after fierce fighting by Uruguayan patriots, the country won its present independence. The beautiful Montevideo public square was named Plaza de la Independencia to keep green the memory of that event.

Brooklyn Will Take Care Of Home Fans for Tickets

5,000 World Series Seats Will Be Sold on Single Game Basis; MacPhail Enlists Ford Frick

New York, Sept. 19 (AP)—Every person who purchases a ticket for a World Series game in Brooklyn will be all but photographed to prevent speculation.

The name and address of each purchaser, together with the ticket number, will be placed on file, and a limit of four sets is placed on any one order, President Larry MacPhail announced yesterday.

MacPhail said the club already has returned certified checks and money orders totaling more than $100,000, submitted for blocks of seats. He said the regular Brooklyn customers would be taken care of first, followed by Manhattan supporters and then the country at large. He estimated about 100,000 fans would like to see the games but that, with only about 24,000 reserved seats or less available, about 88,000 applicants would be disappointed if two sets of tickets were allotted each of the 12,000 successful applicants.

To remedy this, he is arranging to set aside 5,000 seats which will be sold on a single-game basis to those who applied but were unable to get sets of tickets. In this way 15,000 fans will see at least one game, whereas only 5,000 would see all the games if the seats were sold for the series.

Apparently disturbed by reports that the sale was being handled improperly and with little consideration for the loyal fans, MacPhail asked a committee headed by Ford C. Frick, National League president, to inspect the arrangements.

Frick issued a statement to the effect that the committee had found the tickets were being handled fairly and competently. The Brooklyn fan, it added, "is the first concern of the club in all ticket allotments."

Don Hutson Rates High With Coach Of Green Bay Club

Ex-Alabama End Now Gives Chance to Defeat Chicago Bears

Chicago, Sept. 19 (AP)—Although football coaching is his profession, Curly Lambeau is an optimist and probably will be as long as he has Don Hutson on the payroll.

He knows anything can happen so long as the ex-Alabama ace can get about without crutches. That's one reason Lambeau says his Green Bay Packers are better this season than last and predicts they might even give the powerful Chicago Bears a thorough licking before snow flies.

Hutson, still the prima donna of the Packers' cast after six seasons, is the hardest player in the National League to cover and Lambeau says the 28-year-old end is "just as good as ever."

Hutson wasted no time becoming a star, aided immeasurably by the expert pitching of Arnold Herber, whose 10-year-old pro career came to an end a few days ago when Lambeau gave him his unconditional release.

But Herber was in his prime the day Hutson made his pro debut in 1935 against the Bears. Lambeau put rookie Don in at left end and on the very first play Herber arched a 52-yard pass to the elusive flankman who romped the remaining 35 yards to the goal line—an 87-yard gain which gave the Packers a 7 to 0 victory that day.

After 10 brilliant years Herber is through, but he left a few marks for the others to shoot at—most passes completed, 410; most yards gained on passes, 6,741, and ranked third in aerial completions, connecting 410 times in 911 attempts.

Golf's Big Name Players to Start Henry Hurst Open

Amateur and Pros Tangle for Purse; Five Under Par on First 72 Holes May Win

Philadelphia, Sept. 19 (AP)—Golf's big name players—amateur as well as professional—set out today in quest of prize money or glory in the Inaugural $7,500 Henry Hurst Invitation Tournament with the consensus of opinion that a score of 275 would win the top $1,200 award.

The prediction that five-under-par golf for the 72 holes of play would take first money came from Fred Corcoran, Professional Golfers Association Tournament chairman. Such stars as Byron Nelson, Ed "Porky" Oliver, Ben Hogan and George Fazio agreed.

Co-favorites to make the prediction good were Hogan, the leading money winner of the year; Nelson, former Open and P. G. A. champion; Sam Snead, winner of $9,988 in tournament prizes this year; Craig Wood, current U. S. Open champion, and Lloyd Mangrum, who copped last week's $5,000 Atlantic City Open.

Patriot Plants Grown
School children will "Dig For Victory" and grow "Patriotic Cabbages" and other vegetables in Auckland Province, New Zealand. Auckland reports that at country schools gardens will be established or enlarged to provide vegetables for military camps. Schools in the Bay of Plenty grew 24 tons of onions, as well as carrots and other vegetables, last season. Agricultural instructors will visit the gardens.

Blackburn Is Satisfied With Pre-Fight Work, Condition of Joe; Nova Impressive

As Joe Louis and Lou Nova entered the final week of hard training for their world heavyweight title match at the Polo Grounds on Monday, September 29, indications were that the contest would be attended by the largest crowd to witness a fight in New York since the second Louis-Schmeling bout in the summer of 1938, which attracted 70,000.

And it will be a representative crowd, with orders coming in from all parts of the country, from as far west as California and Washington, and from as far south as Texas, Louisiana, and Florida. The ticket sale has moved at a brisk pace during the past two weeks and is growing heavier as the fight date draws closer.

Judging from the ticket sale at the moment, it is regarded as certain that receipts will go to at least $100,000 beyond the $451,000 taken in at the Louis-Billy Conn title event last June.

Letting the promoter and their managers take care of the ticket situation, Louis and Nova continued to pound their sparmates, the champion at Greenwood Lake, N. Y., and Nova at Pompton Lakes, N. J.

Louis's condition is highly satisfactory to his trainer, Jack Blackburn, who insists the Champion will be in as good condition on the night of September 29 as he has been for any of his 18 defenses to date.

Nova, usually an unimpressive gymnasium fighter, has been exceptionally impressive in his sparring sessions. Lou attributes his fine form to his study of "dynamic balance," but to the student of orthodox boxing form it is simply a case of Nova doing the orthodox things in the right way.

There is likely to be no more than a pound difference in weight between the Champion and challenger when they weigh in on the day of the fight. Louis figures to scale 200 or 201, Nova 201.

Lost in Big City, Story Gets Another Chapter

AMARILLO, TEXAS.—Here's a real case of a country boy who got lost in the big city. Jack Armstrong, 28-year-old Amarillo grocery clerk, went to Los Angeles. There he registered at a hotel, parked his car and set out to see the sights. Half an hour later he started walking in what he thought was the direction of his hotel.

After an hour search he gave up and registered at another hotel. He told police he didn't remember the name of the first hotel and asked them to find his automobile and his luggage.

Quite a Blowout

O'Neill, Neb.—Robert Mitchell, 6, put this dangerous combination in his hip pocket: One firecracker, two matches, a celluloid comb. When he squirmed in his seat at school the matches caught fire, ignited the comb and set off the firecracker.

It hurt.

Football Forecasts Severin Likes Duke But Says Tarheels, Clemson Are Tough

JOE BLALOCK: Slated for starring role at Clemson

By PAUL SEVERIN

North Carolina's All-America End

Charlotte, N. C.—Three teams figure as the pick of the Southern Conference this year and I'd name them as North Carolina, Duke, and Clemson, the 1940 champions.

The Blue Devils of Duke really look tough for 1941. The graduating business wasn't too hard on them and from what I've heard the draft didn't do any real harm. And remember, that club lost only two games last year, one to us and the other to Tennessee.

Our 1941 team may not win the conference championship but I feel sure it will be a real contender. Coach Wolf may straighten out the kinks that made the 1940 outfit an up-and-downer and despite the loss of some key men, including Jim LaLanne, I think he can do it.

Clemson, with Joe Blalock slated for a starring role at end, gott, the N. B. A. lightweight champion, two months ago and because of that he's favored to win tonight.

looks as tough as ever and it couldn't be counted as surprising if the tigers repeated their 1940 conference conquest.

There are some dark horses, of course, and William and Mary may turn up with a team that will fool many of the teams that used to count it as just another Saturday's work. The Indians only dropped two last fall and won the Virginia state championship for the first time. Carl Voyles, in the third year of his coaching campaign to make W. & M. a power, may just about realize his goal this fall.

Y. M. I. will cause some trouble and will offer a treat for those who watch expert blocking. Billy Walker, a guard, is an expert at it, and won the Southern conference trophy for blocking in 1940.

George Washington is coming into the loop now this year and it's hard to say what the Colonials will do. Wake Forest will be very strong and Furman can't be kicked around.

But it still looks like a three-way fight to me and I won't be surprised—or unhappy—if North Carolina winds up the winner.

German Forces

Capture Poltava

as said, would prevent a Russian collapse.

On the northern front, Finnish observers less than 10 miles from Kronstadt said thick smoke developed the island's batteries before they ceased firing.

Adolf Hitler's newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, said the guns of Kronstadt, emplaced above a 20-foot ship channel between Leningrad's harbor and deep waters of the Gulf of Finland to the west, had been blasted out of action by a coordinated attack of German dive-bombers and land batteries arrayed along the south shore of Kronstadt Bay.

Surrender Hoped For

Hitler's newspaper expressed hope that the populace of Leningrad would renounce a decision to fight to the end, and its defense committee and negotiate for surrender of the city.

Finnish announced capture of the Soviet base of Rukajärvi, 60 miles from the White Sea coast, in their Karelian campaign.

Both Germany and Russia were affected by international incidents growing out of the war.

Japan was reported by Koh Ishii, Tokyo government spokesman, to have protested to the Soviet government for a second time against Japanese mines in the Sea of Japan as menaces to navigation.

Two vessels—a Korean sailing ship and a Japanese fishing boat—were declared to have been sunk by the mines with a loss of 13 lives. A mine field protects Vladivostok, Russian far eastern port to which United States supplies are moving, on the Sea of Japan.

Col. Gen. Heinrich Von Stuelpnagel, commander of German troops in occupied France, tightened restrictions upon all residents of the Seine department, which includes Paris, in an effort to check rebellious outbreaks.

"I will no longer allow the lives of German soldiers to be threatened by murderers," the general said.

Traffic in the Seine department was prohibited from 9 p. m. to 5 a. m. and all theaters, restaurants and amusement places were ordered to close at 8 p. m. for three days beginning Saturday.

German troops are to patrol all streets and hold as hostages any violators of the curfew.

Small R.A.F. and Luftwaffe forces crossed the channel in overnight attacks, British sources said.

British bombers attacked the docks at Le Havre, Germany, and German bombs which caused little damage fell in South Wales and East Anglia.

The British air ministry said British planes sank two German minesweepers and two anti-aircraft ships and damaged four other vessels yesterday off the Netherlands and Belgian coasts.

Wedding Day Crashes

Anxious to wed, Tsong Yung-shen, accountant of an enamel works in Shanghai, China, tried to borrow $600 from Tsu Ma-ling. Tsu preached against borrowing and induced Tsong to bootleg enamel ware to shops. Tsong got his $600, married, but continued bootlegging. When $18,000 worth of ware had been sold, the two were arrested.

He leaves a widow, Mrs. Clara McKeefrey; a son, John, and four daughters, Miss Dorothy McKeefrey, Mrs. Charles McDermott, Mrs. G. Burdon, Mrs. John Kerns. Mr. McKeefrey was associated with his brother in the building firm of John McKeefrey & Co. His brother died in 1927. The firm attained a wide reputation as builders of churches and theatres. Among the buildings they erected are the Earl Carroll, Maxine Elliott and Princess theatres, the Winter Garden and St. James Protestant Cathedral. In Saugerties the firm built the Saugerties High School and the Ann Steenken residence property on Barclay Heights.

Following a high Mass of requiem for the repose of his soul by the Rev. Stanislaus J. Malinowski, burial of Lawrence J. Mikolajczak took place this morning in the family plot in Mt. Calvary Cemetery. Father Malinowski, who imparted the final absolution at the grave, also called at the late home of Mr. Mikolajczak and recited the Rosary for the repose of his soul. The Mass that was offered in the Immaculate Conception Church was largely attended by relatives and friends.

Large numbers of floral tributes and spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards were received from the immediate family and close friends in honor of the memory of the deceased, who was held in high admiration and respect by a score of people. Included among the large crowd of friends who called to pay their last respects to Mr. Mikolajczak was a group of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. They met out of respect to George McCullough, the deceased's son, who is a member of that group. The bearers were Andrew Wrinn, John Keizer, Fred Janowski, Michael Bruno, John and Leonard Markert.

Parent-Teacher Ass'n

Mt. Marion Unit

The Mt. Marion Parent-Teacher meeting was held in the school Tuesday evening, September 16.

Mrs. Harold Young, president, opened the meeting with the singing of "America the Beautiful," by the whole group.

Mrs. George Gillison read the minutes of the last meeting in the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Warren Myer.

The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. William Down.

Mrs. Young announced that a conference of the National Parent-Teacher Association would be held in Syracuse in October.

Plans for raising money were discussed and the members were invited to pay their dues.

A lively discussion on "Co-operatives Between Home and School," followed. Those participating were: Mrs. George Gillison and Mrs. Harold B. Lane, the mothers and the following children: Irma Utz, Lester Martin, Barbara Myer, William Down, David Branch, Robert Mack, Betty Young and Carole MacDonald.

Some of the questions were: What does co-operation mean to you?

How can your parents co-operate better with your teacher?

Would you like your parents to visit the school more often?

What do you think your parents should do about failing marks on your report cards?

Would you rather go to a one-room school or a village school? Why? What are the advantages of each?

Does your Thomas Jefferson Club teach you democracy? If so, how?

Should children be given allowances? Why?

What do you learn from participation in plays and entertainments?

How are you taught good sportsmanship at home and school?

Would you like your parents to belong to the P. T. A.?

At the conclusion of the discussion, ice cream and cakes were served by the hostess, Mrs. John Dederick.

There were 28 persons present.

To Attend Meeting

Bernard A. Culliton, member of the Democratic State Committee, will attend the meeting of the committee to be held tomorrow at the Hotel Syracuse, Syracuse.

In the evening the Rural County Chairmen's Association of the Democratic party will give a testimonial dinner in honor of James A. Farley, state chairman. William L. Larkin, Democratic chairman of Livingston county, is chairman of the association, which is composed of county chairmen from 19 counties. The proceedings of the dinner will be broadcast.

New York, Sept. 19 (AP)—Stocks generally moved over into the losing column in today's market.

While there were a few losses of a point or so, declines of small fractions were the rule near the final hour. Dealings were slow from the start and transfers for the full proceedings were at the rate of about 500,000 shares.

Buying incentives were lacking for most leaders, brokers said, and the usual trimming of commitments in preparation for the forthcoming week-end served to put brakes on such recovery attempts as were made. London's apprehension over Nazi advance in the Ukraine also was viewed as a somewhat bearish factor. The business picture showed no particular change.

Bonds and commodities followed an irregularly lower trail.

Among drooping stocks most of the day were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, J. I. Case, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Santa Fe, Standard Oil (N. J.), Dow Chemical, Eastman Kodak, and U. S. Gypsum.

Resistant shares included American Telephone, Pennsylvania, Phelps Dodge, Union Carbide, DuPont, Woolworth and Philip Morris.

Singer Mfg. was again pushed up in the curb, along with Heyden Chemical. Backward were American Gas, Bell Aircraft, Glen Alden Coal and Creole Petroleum.

Participants Tell Pre-Fight Events

La Garce Says Duch Was Instigator; Duch Says La Garce to Blame

Discovery of the fact that Joseph Duch, Modena truck driver, was only 20 years old and therefore could not legally be sued brought to a sudden termination the assault action which has been on trial for the past two days in county court.

Royal La Garce, Gardner garage owner, sued Duch for assault. The case was started Thursday afternoon following selection of a jury Thursday morning and the case continued through Thursday and was resumed today at the opening of court. On the stand yesterday Duch told his story and La Garce told his version of an alleged assault last June near Modena.

This morning after court opened Judge A. J. Cook, appearing of counsel with Peter Harp for the plaintiff told the court it had been learned that Duch was under 21 and should have appeared by guardian. He asked for a delay of jurors and declaration of a mistrial. Under the circumstances Judge Conway granted the motion, all jurors were withdrawn and the case was off.

Set down for this afternoon at 2 o'clock was an action for goods sold and delivered brought by J. E. Hanger, Inc., against Harold L. Van Deusen and Alida Van Deusen. Guido J. Napoleano appears for the plaintiff and Mr. Van Deusen appears in person. Jurors were excused until that time.

The story of what happened at the Modena Hotel on June 13, prior to a fracas between Royal La Garce of Gardner and Joseph Duch on the highway between Modena and Gardner was related by the two participants in county court Thursday afternoon and differed widely as to who was the aggressor.

La Garce, who sues Duch for assault, claimed that he went in the hotel with a friend and had a sandwich and soft drink and found Duch at the bar under the influence of liquor and claimed that it was Duch who picked a fight after following him down the road some 1,000 feet from the hotel. Duch said that La Garce had started the trouble when he made a remark to a companion about Duch and that La Garce invited him outside to settle the matter.

Duch said when he went outside at the invitation of La Garce to settle the argument he found La Garce in his car and they drove away. Duch testified that he followed because he believed La Garce was going to some appointment place to have the settlement and when La Garce stopped his car all he did was to grab La Garce by the shirt when La Garce started to fight.

La Garce's Story

La Garce told how Duch started the argument and followed him down the road and cut him off and forced him to stop. Then Duch broke the window of the car which had been down about four inches and struck La Garce twice. The plaintiff also testified that the door of his car was then opened and Duch kicked him inflicting two broken ribs and had threatened more bodily harm but La Garce's companion had stopped the fight.

Duch said the difficulty had started over an argument about a repair job which La Garce had completed some time prior to the Duch car and which was not satisfactory.

La Garce said that he had seen Duch in the hotel by the bar but he had not paid any attention to him and it was not until he had eaten his sandwich and consumed his soft drink and left the place that he noticed Duch had also left the place and was standing by his car outside. La Garce said he immediately started his car and drove off toward home with Duch following. After proceeding some distance Duch headed his car off and compelled him to stop. La Garce denies having made any remark or started any trouble in the hotel and contended that the difficulty was wholly that of Duch.

Treated by Physician

Next day La Garce was treated by Dr. DeWitt of New Paltz for bruises about the face and also two broken ribs. Two days after the alleged assault La Garce swore out a warrant for Duch and had the case tried in his room since he was unable to leave his home because of the injuries. The plaintiff offered evidence to show that Duch had admitted the attack and had pleaded guilty and been fined $25 by Justice Joseph Devo of Gardner. It was charged that Duch before the justice admitted he had been drinking and did not know what he had been doing or how serious the act had been.

Duch denied this on the stand yesterday. He said he had not been under the influence of liquor and had had but two beers. He said he had been told by the police to plead guilty and he would get off with a small fine. He contended that the trouble was started by La Garce at the hotel and that when La Garce made a remark at the bar he simply asked La Garce if he wanted to make something of it and that La Garce issued the invitation to step out and settle the matter. Duch claimed he had not been fully apprised of the charges in justice's court and pleaded when he believed it involved a minor charge.

Regents Select Dr. G. D. Stoddard As Education Head

Committee's Designation Is Equal to Final Approval; Cole Is Retained

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—Dr. George D. Stoddard, 44, dean of Graduate School of the University of Iowa, was selected today by a special regents committee to become state education commissioner July 1, 1942.

The committee, whose report to the regents this afternoon is tantamount to approval, also called for retention of the present commissioner, Dr. Ernest E. Cole, until June 30, seven months beyond his 70-year retirement age.

The new commissioner for the $15,000-a-year position is regarded by educators as one of the foremost authorities in the field of child development and despite his comparative youth has had a long career in educational administration.

Stoddard, a native of Carbondale, Pa., has been dean of Iowa's Graduate College since 1936. He also has been professor of child psychology and director of the Iowa Child Welfare Research Station for 11 years. He was head of the university's psychology department in 1938-39.

Stoddard received a bachelor of arts degree from Pennsylvania State College in 1921, the diploma of the University of Paris in 1923 and a doctor of philosophy degree at the University of Iowa in 1925.

Bridge Toll Cut Is Not Confirmed

Unofficial Reports Persist That Catskill, Highland, Bear Mt. Affected

A re-financing plan which was under discussion Thursday at Albany between State Comptroller Morris S. Tremaine and members of the New York State Bridge Authority which has jurisdiction over the Mid-Hudson Bridge at Highland, the Rip Van Winkle Bridge at Catskill and the Bear Mountain Bridge spanning the Hudson river at Bear Mountain, may result in a reduction in bridge tolls on the three bridges.

According to the Associated Press this afternoon the bridge authority spokesman at Albany was unable to give any definite information about the tolls reduction. No indication was given when the official statement was forthcoming.

Present prices for passenger cars may be reduced from the present 50 cent toll to 25 cents, in accordance with a suggestion made by New York State Park Commissioner Robert Moses recently.

Members of the Bridge Authority advocated the reduction in tolls Thursday at the discussion with the State Comptroller when a plan for refinancing the bond issues of the three bridges was reviewed. The plan is to combine the various issues, issue lower interest bonds and pave the way for the reduction in tolls.

Kansas City Power Strike Is Ended

Union Men Return After Eight Are Given Equal Treatment

Kansas City, Sept. 19 (AP)—The surprise strike of electrical workers which began with a four-hour blackout and for two days kept Kansas City on pins and needles ended today.

Members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (A.F.L.) voted 184 to 2 to return to their jobs at 7 a. m. (C. S. T.) and pickets withdrew from the two plants of the Kansas City Power and Light Company.

Final settlement came after company officials agreed to permit eight workers accused of sabotage during the walkout to return on the same basis as other employees.

The eight are charged with malicious destruction of property because of their part in the unheralded shutdown which plunged the city in paralyzing darkness. The strike was called Tuesday midnight after the defense mediation board referred back to the National Labor Relations Board and the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals a dispute between the I.B.E.W. and the Independent Union of Utility Employees over which should represent 200 overhead workers and a dozen employees in the steam department. The union will follow the request of the mediation board. I.B.E.W. President Fred Riddell said early today, that the men return to work while an investigation of the dispute is made and cases pending before the N.L.R.B. and the U. S. Court of Appeals are expedited.

To Visit Elks

GEORGE J. HALL

On next Thursday evening, September 25, the regular meeting of Kingston Lodge No. 550 B. P. O. Elks will be featured by an address of George J. Hall, president of the New York State Elks Association. President Hall will outline the principles of Elksdom and stress the features of the orders which have impressed him most since he became a member.

President Hall's career in Elksdom has been a distinguished one. He was initiated a member of Lynbrook Lodge No. 1515 in 1926. In 1936 he was elected Exalted Ruler of that lodge after having served in all the various minor offices, as well as having rendered distinguished service as chairman of the financial rehabilitation committee of that lodge. In 1937 and 1938 he served as District Deputy for the Southeast District of New York. For two years he served as a member of the Grand Lodge activities committee and he has also rendered valuable service on the membership committee and budget committee of the State Association.

Exalted Ruler Vincent G. Connelly urges every member of Kingston Lodge to attend this meeting in order to give an appreciative and fraternal greeting to the state president for honoring Kingston with a visit.

Refreshments will be served during the social hours after the meeting.
